500 Out Of Work Through Strike

More than 500 Victoria building tradesmen were without work today because of a general shutdown of construction projects in the area.

The shutdown was ordered by the Victoria Building Industries' Exchange, association of city contractors.

The exchange decided last week to issue a stop-work order because of difficulties caused by the strike of Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros' building supply firm.

Ford Plant To Be Closed For Union Meeting

WILSON, Ont. (CP)—Local 200, United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), announced today that the rambling Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. plant will close Tuesday afternoon to allow the union's 11,000 members to hold a special general membership meeting to discuss their pensions dispute.

Union officials said it would be one of the few times on record that a major auto plant has been closed for a union meeting. The union also said the company had sanctioned the proposal.

The general meeting is to hear "the report of results of negotiations to date," a union spokesman said.

The union voted a week ago to strike April 12 if their demands are not met by that date.

Trainmen Hurt In Collision

CHILLIWACK (BUP)—Two Vancouver men were in hospital today after a train collision at Yale, 30 miles northeast of here.

M. G. Mott, car repair man, was reported in serious condition with undetermined injuries while M. C. Nikolai, a fireman, suffered rib fractures in the accident Sunday.

The accident occurred when a C.N.R. work train and a freight plowed into each other. They were going the same way. Three cars were derailed in the collision and their contents spilled over the tracks.

Work crews cleared the debris late Sunday night and service over the route was restored early this morning.

DRAG RIVER FOR BODY OF COWICHAN BOY

Hat Found Where Tracking Dog Leads Searchers

Dragging operations were proceeding today in the lower reaches of the Cowichan River for the body of a two-year-old boy who is believed to have fallen into the fast-moving water and drowned Sunday afternoon.

The boy is Garry Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clark of Cowichan Road.

When the boy was discovered missing, B.C. Police at Duncan called for the services of Sir Roderick of Ogden, South Vancouver Island Rangers' bloodhound, to pick up the trail of the lad.

The dog led searchers to the riverbank in the vicinity of the picnic grounds on the Riverbottom Road. Satisfied that the boy went into the river, the Rangers withdrew from the case.

The hat the boy was wearing was found in the river by Mrs. Clark. The hat was close by where the bloodhound took the searchers on the river bank.

Constable J. Meredith-Jones is in charge of the case and was directing the dragging operations this morning.

Young Garry was playing with his seven-year-old sister, Diana, when he disappeared. This was at 2.30. Diana was the last to see him.

Emergency service Rangers taking part were Russ Lyle, handling the dog; Les Wilby, in charge of the operation; Charles Taylor, Clarence Pullen, Stewart Kennedy and Cedric Jones with the Rangers' ambulance.

Blazing Trawler Threatens Docks

STEVESTON (CP)—A flaming fish trawler threatened docks in this fishing village Sunday until firemen managed to tow it into midstream.

Burned to the water line was the 50-foot beam trawler, Rose N. L., owned jointly by the Great West Packing Co. and Harry Stucherry of Steveston. Damage is estimated at $6,000.

The fire, believed started by an overheated oil stove, spread rapidly and firemen were forced to tow the vessel to the middle of the Fraser River to prevent the flames from spreading to the docks.

Canada's Arctic Blasts Curtail Easter Parades

By CANADIAN PRESS

Arctic blasts and Easter parades on Canada's long holiday weekend. The frigid cold which gripped the country from Rockies to Newfoundland may also have been a factor in keeping down holiday deaths to 19 for the three days.

Wintry road conditions in some provinces held down highway travel. Snow fell in Manitoba, the southwest half of Saskatchewan, northwest Ontario and the Maritimes. But churches were thronged throughout the country. Some congregations in Ottawa, for example, opened auxiliary rooms to handle overflowing crowds of worshippers.

Ten of the holiday fatalities occurred in Ontario, seven in Quebec and two in British Columbia. Traffic accidents took seven lives, two were killed in a B.C. plane crash and a mother and her invalid son were burned to death at St. Hilaire, Que. Other deaths were ascribed to drowning, accidental strangulations and falls. An elderly Ontario man was beaten to death. Many fashion parades did their strolling in fur coats. But the display of Easter finery was at its best in Victoria and Vancouver, where the temperatures were mild, and at Toronto, where some 175,000 witnessed the informal style show.

On Montreal's downtown Sherbrooke Street many matrons wore lighter dresses and coats. The Maritimes, beset by cold and snow, did little fashion parading.

On the Pacific coast thousands streamed away from the cities on holiday travel. The 56 degrees and intermittent sunlight at Vancouver's Stanley Park made for a good showing in the Easter fashion spectacle.

Traces Of Poison Found In Two Exhumed Bodies

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuter)

Traces of poison have been found in the bodies of two old men exhumed last week at the village of Whaplode Grove, near Salford, Lincolnshire. It was reported today.

This was the latest development in what may become one of the most sensational poisoning mysteries of the century.

Scientists working through the Easter week-end at the forensic laboratories here found a narcotic drug, the report said.

Whether there was enough of the drug to cause death was not known.

The two men, 79-year-old

Ernest Thrower and 78-year-old Henry Scarfe, were farm workers who lived in neighboring bungalows and spent their retirement in their gardens. They died a year ago.

Police had said earlier they were awaiting the report on the two men before deciding whether to exhume three or four other bodies, including that of a 31-year-old woman, Mrs. Ivy Scotney, who died at the village of Farset, Huntingdonshire, seven years ago.

Besides Mrs. Scotney, the police are concerned over the deaths of Harry Brookbanks, 67, a retired brick worker who died in 1944, and Thomas Powell, 56, an iron moulder.

Death certificates in all cases record "natural causes," but after interviewing many friends and relatives, police are reported to believe that symptoms were shown which could be connected with morphine poisoning.

MAY HELP STUNTED CHILDREN

New Wonder Drug Found To Be Powerful Stimulant Of Growth

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—One of the wonder drugs developed to fight diseases—golden aureomycin—has been found to be a powerful growth stimulant which may help even stunted children.

The drug's newly-discovered powers were the subject of one of the more than 300 scientific reports submitted to the American Chemical Society's 117th national meeting, which began here today.

The report came from Dr. E. L. R. Stokstad and Dr. T. H. Jukes of the Lederle laboratories division, American Cyanamid Company, of Pearl River, N.Y.

Dr. Stokstad, with Dr. James McGinnis of Washington State

College, made a preliminary report on aureomycin's new role to a nutritional feed conference at Seattle April 3. At that time the scientists said feed supplements produced as by-products in making aureomycin, and two similar antibiotics—streptomycin and terramycin—quicker growth.

The report here said only aureomycin had been successfully used on farm animals.

Up to now, aureomycin, like its sister "fungus drugs" penicillin and streptomycin, has been used as a potent weapon against pneumonia, whooping cough, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, undulant fever, and streptococcus and staphylococcus infections.

But the report from the Lederle scientists says tiny amounts of

Pilot House Saves Lone Tug Skipper

NEW YORK (CP)—At least 24 seamen were dead or missing today following a heavy week-end gale in the North Atlantic shipping lanes.

Three small vessels were involved. A tugboat skipper who clung tenaciously for four hours to the floating pilot house of his sinking vessel apparently was the only survivor of a Chesapeake Bay disaster in which six men were believed to have been drowned.

The tugboat Lorraine sank Sunday off Windmill Point Light, near the mouth of Rappahannock River in Virginia. Wind-lashed waves washed six men of her crew overboard.

The 63-foot dragger William Landry was broken to bits while awaiting help three-quarters of a mile off the Pollock Rip Lightship, Nantucket, Mass., Saturday in a snow-blinding gale.

Wreckage of the Landry was washed ashore on the east side of Nantucket and no sign of the crew members was reported.

The U.S. Coast Guard reported there has been no word from the scalloper Four Sisters since last Friday. The 64-foot fishing vessel carried 10 men. The Coast Guard reported the Four Sisters radioed Friday she was bucking a heavy storm but expected to be in port in time for the Saturday morning market.

The Landry and the Four Sisters both were out of New Bedford, Mass.

BLOWN OFF COURSE

Another vessel, the 55-foot dragger Anna C. Perry, also was reported missing off Nantucket, but later was found berthed at a New Bedford wharf. She had been blown 150 miles off course.

One body of the tugboat Lorraine's crew was brought to Nantucket Sunday night by another tug. It was found in a life ring not far from the spot where the Lorraine went down.

The Lorraine's skipper, Capt. O. P. Brown, was rescued by a passing boat. He was taken ashore for treatment for shock and exposure.

Two Coast Guard vessels and a Coast Guard plane today searched the Chesapeake Bay for traces of the five men still missing.

Sees Favor For British Exports

LONDON (CP)—Sir Cecil

Weir, chairman of the Dollar Exports Board, has said that Britain's objective of doubling exports to Canada in the next 18 months is not the most difficult task traders have had to tackle.

"There is a favorable wind blowing in every Canadian Province," he told a meeting of the industrial co-partnership association, "a wind which has its origin in joint interests."

Weather Forecast

Cloudy and cold today and Tuesday; light rain this afternoon becoming continuous and ending Tuesday morning. Winds light increasing to southeast 20 m.p.h. tonight, shifting to southwest 30 m.p.h. Tuesday forenoon. Low tonight, 44; high tomorrow, 50.

Police Recover Abandoned Hit-Run Car

The car that was in collision with one driven by Ray O. Fair-service, 771 Kings Road, Saturday night and sped from the scene, was later recovered and found to have been stolen, city police reported.

The collision took place at Pembroke Street and Stanley Avenue, the impact knocking the Fair-service car over on its side. One passenger was said to have suffered a twisted shoulder, but was not taken to hospital.

The license plate number of the hit-run car was noted at the scene and was found Sunday morning abandoned at the foot of Rutland Road.

Police ascertained the car was owned by Lawrence Thomas, who reported to police it had been stolen from outside 1341 Craigflower Road Saturday night. He had reported this to B.C. Police.

Police estimated $300 damage was done to the Fair-service car and $300 to the other, which was splattered with a small amount of blood on the front seat and right door.

Elect 22 More To Canadian Royal Society

OTTAWA (CP)—The Royal Society of Canada today announced the election of 22 new fellows, bringing the society's total membership to about 500.

One of the oldest cultural societies of this country, the Royal Society was established 68 years ago and brings together Canada's leading historians, writers, scientists and teachers.

Dr. Scraphin Marion, honorary secretary, said names of those elected on secret vote will be confirmed by the society at its forthcoming meeting early in June at the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

Among those elected: Section Two—English History and Literature: J. R. Daniels, Professor of English and head of department, University of British Columbia, Vancouver.

Damaged Areas Recover From U.S. Ice Storm

CHICAGO (AP)—The ice storms which flattened communications and power lines over a wide section of the upper midwestern United States Sunday had shrunk to the northern Great Lakes region today.

Northeastern Iowa generally, and the Mississippi River city of Clinton particularly, were hardest hit by the freezing rain, which disabled telephone service in at least 55 towns of the area.

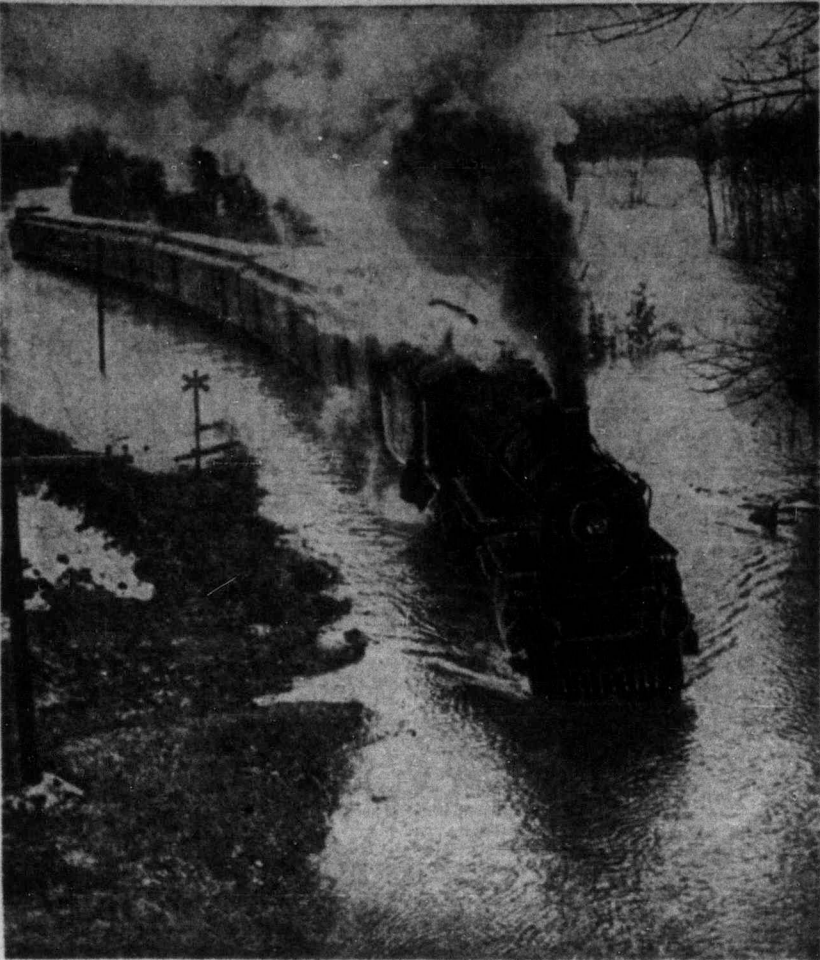

But rising temperatures in all but the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan today gave many of the stricken communities a chance to repair the damage.

Damages estimated at more than $100,000 to the telephone systems of Iowa alone.

Thieving, Fighting, Dance Disturbances On List

By ROY THORSEN

A fight with a policeman, shopbreaking and robberies, trouble at a dance, cutting up goldfish and throwing rotten eggs at a Sunday church service audience, were among offences blamed on 'teen-agers' in Victoria during the week-end.

Juvenile offenders have become a major headache for local police. Practically all of the crime on the 1950 records has been traced to boys ranging in age from 13 and under up to 20.

Eight or nine boys went into York Theatre Sunday night around 8.50 and threw rotten eggs at the church audience and stage, Evangelist D. D. Clarke told officers. No one got a description of the culprits and a police search of the district failed to find them.

Juveniles are believed responsible for the entry of Kay's Coffee Shop at 568 Yates Street, operated by Francis Hall. There they took $20 worth of cigarettes. They also took two goldfish out of a bowl and cut them to pieces on the counter, police reported. They got in through a broken window.

BROKE INTO ARENA

Between four and five youths will likely face juvenile court for breaking into the Memorial Arena through a back window to steal cases of pop. One of the boys was caught by the night watchman. Two cases of pop which had been taken outside were recovered.

At 1 Sunday morning the Topper Cafe, Yates Street, was the scene of a fight between a 'teen-ager' and policeman.

FOUGHT POLICEMAN

Constables Norman Bath and Leslie Mottershead attended in response to a telephone report a fight was raging there. They found Constable Nap Bouchard in the throes of battle with a young man, who had a lot of verbal supporters in the gallery.

The battling youth was arrested on a charge of obstructing an officer. Steve Johnson, proprietor, reported damage amounting to $85 as a direct result of the scuffle. Constable Bath sustained injuries to a finger.

Officers went to the Y.M.C.A. and brought to the police station three boys, aged 18 and 19, who were causing trouble, two of them were charged with being intoxicated in a public place. The other was warned and sent on his way. There have been several cases of 'teen-age' trouble.

makers at the "Y" dances in the last few weeks, police were told by Bob Morrison, program secretary.

Policemen talked to four boys, one aged 15 and the other three aged 18, when a citizen reported they were trying to break into a car on Belleville Street Sunday morning.

Jack Keasney reported to police that $3 in change was stolen from his 567 Johnson Street store. Entry was gained through a window.

FLARES REVIVE HOPE FOR LOST PATROL PLANE

Danes, Swedes Send Ship To Aid In Search

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Sighting of two flares in the Baltic Sea today revived hope for 10 United States Navy fliers missing in a lost PB-4Y patrol plane Saturday.

U.S. Air Force headquarters said the flares had been sighted by a search plane near the Danish Island of Bornholm. Additional search planes and ships of the Danish and Swedish navies were sent to the area in the hope that the flares might have been set up from the missing plane.

The four-engine patrol plane disappeared Saturday on a 430-mile training flight from Wiesbaden, Germany, to Copenhagen, Denmark.

The plane was last heard from when it radioed it had crossed the German-Danish border near the Russian zone of Germany.

POPE TELLS ROME PILGRIMS SCIENCE DANGER TO WORLD

ROME (UP)—Pope Pius XII warned a post-Easter audience today that the world is slipping into a dangerous worship of science.

He told 30,000 Holy Year pilgrims that there is no basic conflict between religion and science despite the scientists' challenges of many Roman Catholic beliefs.

"Between sure results of scientific investigations and the essential conditions of the faith, there is no, and there cannot be, any irreducible opposition," he said.

"Gentlemen, the rights of reason and of the progress of science have nothing to fear from any menace of the faith. Their enemy is not God. Their enemy is all those who in one way or another have denied or discarded God in order to put in His place an idol."

Master Of Tug Clings 4 Hours To Pilot House

NEW YORK (CP)—At least 24 seamen were dead or missing today following a heavy week-end gale in the North Atlantic shipping lanes.

Three small vessels were involved.

A tugboat skipper who clung tenaciously for four hours to the floating pilot house of his sinking vessel apparently was the only survivor of a Chesapeake Bay disaster in which six men were believed to have been drowned.

The tugboat Lorraine sank Sunday off Windmill Point Light, near the mouth of Rappahannock River in Virginia. Wind-lashed waves washed six men of her crew overboard.

One body of the tugboat Lorraine's crew was brought to Norfolk Sunday night by another tug. It was found in a life ring pot far from the spot where the Lorraine went down.

The Lorraine's skipper, Capt. O. P. Brown, was rescued by a passing boat. He was taken ashore for treatment for shock and exposure.

Two Coast Guard vessels and a Coast Guard plane today searched the Chesapeake Bay for traces of the five men still missing.

VANCOUVER HOUSEWIFE THINKS 'SAUCERS' VISIBLE

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Those pesky flying saucers have been reported sighted over Vancouver.

Housewife Mrs. Erwin Neutze claims to have seen four flying D saucers passing over Vancouver in a westerly direction at 8.45 Sunday night. The United States Air Force has repeatedly denied the existence of such saucers.

"I saw four round objects the size of beach balls and all lit up with a bright white light flying at a very high rate of speed," Mrs. Neutze said. "They were about 3,000 or 4,000 feet up, south of the house and traveling west."

Air-traffic control and the tower at Vancouver's International Airport said there were two light private planes up at that time and a United Air Lines passenger plane.

Mayhew Wants More Study Of B.C. Fisheries

NANAIMO (CP)—Research must keep pace with modernization of British Columbia's fishing fleet and her industrial expansion if the fishing industry is to be preserved, Fisheries Minister Robert Mayhew said today.

"As we learn more about our fishery," he said, "the problems change, but do not vanish."

Mr. Mayhew and Dr. G. B. Reed, chairman of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, presided at official opening ceremonies here of the new Department Bay Pacific Biological Station.

The ultra-modern, $250,000 station houses scientists conducting research into B.C.'s fishing industry—worth $58,000,000 last year. It is also headquarters for field stations throughout the province.

"Two recent developments serve to emphasize the need for continued research," Mr. Mayhew said. These were "the increase in the efficiency of our fishing fleet—the use of better equipment and improved techniques—and the growing industrialization of the province."

The improvement of the fleet, he said, must be matched by increased knowledge of fish populations.

Otto Landauer, 44, Vancouver photographer, fractured a leg Saturday while skiing in the mountain park area, 10 miles northeast of here. Squamish is about 30 miles up the coast from Vancouver.

Otar Brandvold traveled by skis and jeep to Squamish to telephone to Vancouver for aid. He started down the mountain late Saturday and reached here at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Dr. L. C. Kindree of Squamish accompanied Brandvold back to the scene to treat Landauer, writhing in pain on a small cot in a chalet near the top of the mountain. The doctor reached the chalet late Sunday.

In the meantime an R.C.A.F. helicopter had flown to the chalet. It was unable to land because of the rarified air at the high altitude, but dropped doctor's instructions for treating Landauer before returning to base at Vancouver.

Landauer is to be taken by stretcher over deep snow to the base camp, about six miles from the chalet.

From there a jeep will be used to complete the journey over a rough logging road to Squamish.

An aircraft or speedboat probably will be used to transport the injured man from here to hospital at Vancouver.

New Search In Oregon On Huge Robbery

BOSTON (AP)—Investigators of the $1,700,000 Brink's robbery today reported a new search under way in Bend, Ore., for a former Stoughton man who vanished about two weeks after the Jan. 17 hold-up.

They said the man sought was observed recently in the west coast area and was spending money freely.

Neighbors said the man was seen frequently in the company of three or four strangers before the night nine masked bandits escaped with bulging money bags from the armored car firm.

He disappeared about Feb. 1, leaving his wife behind, authorities said. "Complete immunity from prosecution" was promised to any accessory in the crime who helps convict the actual gunmen.

POLICE CATCH DRIVER, AGE 6

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—An auto weaving through streets along the Boulder business district prompted frantic calls to police.

Sgt. Harold Stewart was dispatched to give chase through heavy traffic. After half a dozen blocks of swinging and swaying, he cornered the erratic car.

Three Nuns, Man, Wife Beaten, Injured By Thugs

Would-Be Winnipeg Burglar Thought Darkened Monastery Was Unoccupied

WINNIPEG (CP)—Police reported today three nuns were among five persons viciously beaten in two Saturday-night break-ins.

Assistant Superior Sister Gertrude, the Mother Superior and another nun were injured when the Monastery of the Precious Blood was broken into.

In another attempted robbery, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stolem, an elderly, semi-paralyzed couple, were savagely assaulted when Mr. Stolem discovered a man in their basement.

Police said the would-be burglar, apparently considering the darkened monastery unoccupied, broke into Sister Gertrude's room. He belabored her with an instrument when she screamed, causing severe head injuries.

Her condition in hospital was reported good.

The mother superior, Mother Mary Agnes, suffered hand and shoulder injuries when she answered the screams. A third sister suffered minor injuries.

Stolem suffered head injuries and his wife may have concussion.

In both cases the marauder fled before police arrived.

The gunman walked away.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

WILD LIFE WEEK

HAPPENING to read in the paper a few nights ago that a local resident had seen a hummingbird around her currant bush, I kept my eyes open over the week-end and, sure enough, I spied a pair of the lovely little creatures feasting off the blossoms of our flowering currant.

As I have observed before, these tiny birds seem to have a partiality for red flowers and it was entrancing to watch them, poised in flight, their tiny wings going at the comparable—and invisible—speed of an airplane propeller, as they poked their beaks into each little flower either to sip nectar or to extract insects, I don't know which.

JACK MINER'S TASK

AND as I watched them, I recalled to my mind that today marks the opening of National Wild Life Week, dedicated to the memory of the late Jack Miner, world-famed Ontario conservationist whose birthday fell on April 10.

Now, while I am somewhat sceptical of the value of the many commercially-inspired "weeks" which leave their red-letter trail on our calendars, I am wholly in accord with Jack Miner week. For it draws public attention to the living legacy left behind by him in the shape of a wild life preserve at Kingsville, Ont., where literally millions of wild birds have found sanctuary over the years.

SANCTUARY FOR BIRDS

NOT only nature-lovers but sportsmen as well appreciate the movement which Jack Miner started when he first gave protection to geese and other wild fowl which halted at his place while on their annual migration south, and again on their later return to the nesting-places in the Canadian north.

Over the years, the glad tidings spread to other feathered visitors until the annual visitation to his sanctuary grew to such numbers that people came from great distances every spring to see the amazing sight. And his example has inspired an appreciation of the tremendous asset this wild life is to this magnificent country of ours.

OBSERVED IN SCHOOLS

TO MY MIND, the greatest value of National Wild Life Week is that it focusses the attention of the children upon the need for the protection and conservation of our wild birds and animals, and also of our timber and other natural resources.

And Jack Miner's memorial week also serves to remind us of what the British Columbia branch of the Canadian Forestry Association is doing to train the future custodians of our great outdoors. Through its Junior Forest Wardens, Girl Forest Guards and School Forestry Clubs, young people are not only learning woodcraft, how to take care of themselves in the forests and to guard against fire, but of the many other ways of conserving our woods, waters, and their furred and feathered denizens.

EDUCATION, NOT LEGISLATION

THESE things have been taught to thousands of youngsters in this province. In the Junior Wardens, interest is growing to such an extent that the 26 groups first organized in 1945 grew to 146 groups last year. And there are 350 girls in the Girl Forest Guard movement.

As I have said before, this ties in with the Jack Miner movement for the preservation of the great natural resources and the great natural beauties of this Canada of ours. And it is all of a piece with one of his statements which has gone down into history—and which could well be applied to other phases of our public life: "I stand for more education and less legislation."

3,500 Army Camp Homes Provided In Four Years

Citizens' Rehabilitation Council Reports Cost To Public $39,000

Approximately 3,500 persons have been accommodated since April 15, 1946, by the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council in former army camps and other buildings.

The summary of council operations reveals that 875 families of an average size of four were placed at Gordon Head, Macaulay, and Colwood camps, Moresby House and Balmoral House.

Public funds used in this work, the report states, amounted to $39,000 or $44.57 per family.

At the end of last year there were 170 families residing in the three above-mentioned camps, Moresby House and Tillamook Camp. Balmoral House is no longer in use.

On March 23 this year, the number had dropped to 157 families.

STILL URGENT

The report points out that while the demand for shelter at the present time is less in quantity of applications, there is still a great urgency as ever in the need to place individual families.

Breakdown of totals for each camp and building used by the council to place veterans and their families show in most cases that an increasing number of families are moving out each year as more permanent accommodation becomes more plentiful.

Here is the record of the various camps: Since Gordon Head Camp was taken over by the council May 1, 1947, 204 families have been accommodated. Of these, 83 were still living there at the end of last year.

Thirty-two tenants have resided at Gordon Head for more than two years; 34 moved in last year, 11 of whom have since left. Macaulay Camp, taken over Oct. 1, 1946, has been home to 165 families, 40 of whom were still there at year's end. ## Easter Music And Messages Attract Large Congregations To Churches

Thousands of worshippers in Greater Victoria observed the Resurrection of Christ by attending church services Easter Sunday.

Large congregations crowded all churches. Spring hats, bright ties and other seasonal finery was in evidence, though Old Sol showed himself from behind the clouds for only three hours and 45 minutes, and a few drops of rain fell.

Churches featured Easter music and stories for young and old. Many church-goers were out-of-town visitors. At Beacon Hill Park at 7:45 Sunday morning, Gideons held their annual sunrise service.

Many citizens continued the Easter holiday week-end today, notably those on a five-day week who have been off work since closing time Thursday. This group includes government and many other office workers.

FACILITIES CROWDED

Transportation facilities were crowded by persons returning home today. Land, air and water carriers have been heavily taxed since Thursday evening.

Seventeen T.C.A. flights in and out of Patricia Bay airport were scheduled for today—15 to and from Vancouver, and two each way for Seattle.

There were extra sailings between Vancouver and Nanaimo today, and the Princess Louise will be an extra steamer leaving Vancouver for this port at midnight tonight.

A native Victorian who did underground work against the Japanese in China returned to the city of his birth last week. Harvey Love, Chinese Canadian, has been a busy young man since he left here in 1937.

He has graduated in business administration from St. John's University in Shanghai, toured much of the world displaying the yo-yo, hobby of which became business, spent some time in a Japanese jail, worked in and later bought a Chinese radio station and, last but not least, took unto himself a wife from Sochow, China.

Harvey was in Victoria to attend the 20th anniversary celebration of the Chinese Students' Athletic Association.

Since last May he has been employed by a Vancouver radio station running a weekly Chinese program.

Chinese Reds Plan Full-Scale Attack

Top General Named For Southern Island Assault

By FRED HAMPSON

HONGKONG (AP)—Reports from Communist China Sunday said Gen. Lin Piao, the Reds' best field general, has been ordered to conquer Hainan and that full-scale invasion of that big Nationalist island may be only a few days off.

Hainan, only 10 miles off the south coast, has resisted a series of small-scale invasion attempts. The most ambitious was April 1, when the Nationalists said they killed 5,000 Reds and captured 2,000 who landed on several beaches. (These may have been exaggerated.)

Sunday's reports from Communist-ruled Canton said that Gen. Chu Teh, Red commander-in-chief, has given Lin Piao eight armies to do the job. (A Chinese army usually totals 10,000 to 20,000 men.)

It is unlikely the Reds have enough craft to move a force of that size—50,000 to 100,000 men. Lin Piao, conqueror of Manchuria and victor in a whirlwind campaign through Central China, now is rated as the biggest man in the Communist Army next to Chu Teh himself.

His assignment to the comparatively small but risky task of taking Hainan indicates the seriousness with which the Reds view that Nationalist stronghold, second in importance only to Formosa.

Hongkong newspapers say the Reds are commandeering all vessels in the Canton vicinity and sending them to the Luichow Peninsula for the Hainan assault. Nationalist and pro-Nationalist reports say the Reds have tried about six small landings during the last month—all failures. The Reds themselves have kept mum. By all reports they squandered somewhere between 30,000 and 70,000 men last fall in unskilled and poorly-planned attempts, to take the Chusan Islands. They got a couple of them, about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai, but the Nationalists still hold the important air and naval base on the main island.

The Red amphibious record in attacking other small islands very near the mainland has not been good—but they never before have assigned a man of Lin Piao's calibre to personal command.

Boy Cyclists In Saanich Accidents

In Saanich Saturday two boy cyclists were in separate accidents, Saanich police said. Alvin G. Graham, 213 Burnside Road, 7 to 1 to 8 to 1. Largest number of unfilled orders was for domestic service.

Mr. Mudge said men were gradually getting jobs, though there was still a large number seeking employment. "In the male group there was an increased number placed into employment, mainly on construction work," Mr. Mudge said.

FLIGHT RECORD FROM PAT BAY

A new Patricia Bay flight record by Trans-Canada Air Lines for a five-day period will be set tonight.

From Thursday morning until tonight, 172 flights will have been made. All extra trips were for Vancouver, but the total includes the usual two daily flights to and from Seattle.

Ron Williams, T.C.A. district traffic agent here, said a new Thursday high of 42 flights was set.

Women Loath To Take Jobs As Domestic

Women are still reluctant to enter domestic service, even when there is a scarcity of jobs.

While the overall employment figures for Victoria continue to improve, the number of women registering for work continues to rise, it was reported by C. A. Mudge, manager of the National Employment Office here. The ratio of women applicants to jobs available has jumped from 7 to 1 to 8 to 1. Largest number of unfilled orders was for domestic service.

Mr. Mudge said men were gradually getting jobs, though there was still a large number seeking employment.

"In the male group there was an increased number placed into employment, mainly on construction work," Mr. Mudge said.

Canada's Arctic Blasts Curtail Easter Parades

By CANADIAN PRESS

Arctic blasts curtailed Easter parades on Canada's long holiday week-end. The unreasonable cold which gripped the country from Rockies to Newfoundland may also have been a factor in keeping down holiday deaths to 19 for the three days.

Wintry road conditions in some provinces held down highway travel. Snow fell in Manitoba, the southwest half of Saskatchewan, northwest Ontario and the Maritimes. But churches were thronged throughout the country. Some congregations in Ottawa, for example, opened auxiliary rooms to handle overflowing crowds of worshippers.

Ten of the holiday fatalities occurred in Ontario, seven in Quebec and two in British Columbia. Traffic accidents took seven lives, two were killed in a B.C. plane crash and a mother and her invalid son were burned to death at St. Hilaire, Que. Other deaths were ascribed to drowning, accidental strangulations and falls. An elderly Ontario man was beaten to death.

Many fashion parades did their strutting in fur coats. But the display of Easter finery was at its best in Victoria and Vancouver, where the temperatures were mild, and at Toronto, where some 175,000 witnessed the informal style show.

On Montreal's downtown Sherbrooke Street many matrons wore lighter dresses and coats. The Maritimes, besieged by cold and snow, did little fashion parading.

On the Pacific coast thousands streamed away from the cities on holiday travel. The 50 degrees and intermittent sunlight at Vancouver's Stanley Park made for a good showing in the Easter fashion spectacle.

Blazing Trawler Threatens Docks

STEVESTON (CP)—A flaming fish trawler threatened docks in this fishing village Sunday until firemen managed to tow it into midstream.

Burned to the water line was the 50-foot beam trawler, Rose N. H. owned jointly by the Great West Packing Co. and Harry Stuchbery of Steveston. Damage is estimated at $6,000.

The fire, believed started by an overheated oil stove, spread rapidly and firemen were forced to tow the vessel to the middle of the Fraser River to prevent the flames from spreading to the docks.

Police Recover Abandoned Hit-Run Car

The car that was in collision with one driven by Ray O. Fair-service, 771 Kings Road, Saturday night and sped from the scene, was later recovered and found to have been stolen, city police reported.

The collision took place at Pembroke Street and Stanley Avenue, the impact knocking the Fair-service car over on its side. One passenger was said to have suffered a twisted shoulder, but was not taken to hospital.

The license plate number of the hit-run car was noted at the scene and was found Sunday morning abandoned at the foot of Rutland Road.

Police ascertained the car was owned by Lawrence Thomas, who reported to police it had been stolen from outside 1341 Craigflower Road Saturday night. He had reported this to B.C. Police. Police estimated $500 damage was done to the Fair-service car and $300 to the other, which was splattered with a small amount of blood on the front seat and right door.

This was the latest development in what may become one of the most sensational poisoning mysteries of the century.

Scientists working through the Easter week-end at the forensic laboratories here found a narcotic drug, the report said.

Whether there was enough of the drug to cause death was not known.

The two men, 79-year-old Ernest Throver and 78-year-old Henry Scarfe, were farm workers who lived in neighboring bungalows and spent their retirement in their gardens. They died a year ago.

OTHERS ON LIST
Police had said earlier they were waiting the report on the two men before deciding whether to exhume three or four other bodies, including that of a 31-year-old woman, Mrs. Ivy Scotney, who died at the village of Farret, Huntingdonshire, seven years ago.

Besides Mrs. Scotney, the police are concerned over the deaths of Harry Brookbanks, 67, a retired brick worker who died in 1944, and Thomas Powell, 56, an iron moulder.

Scientists Say Drug Growth Stimulant

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—One of the wonder drugs developed to fight diseases—golden aureomycin—has been found to be a powerful growth stimulant which may help even stunted children.

The drug's newly-discovered powers were the subject of one of the more than 300 scientific reports submitted to the American Chemical Society's 117th national meeting, which began here today.

The report came from Dr. E. L. R. Stokstad and Dr. T. H. Jukes of the Lederle Laboratories division, American Cyanamid Company, of Pearl River, N.Y.

Dr. Stokstad, with Dr. James McInnis of Washington State College, made a preliminary report on aureomycin's new role to a nutritional feed conference at Seattle April 3. At that time the scientists said feed supplements produced as by-products in making aureomycin, and two similar antibiotics—streptomycin and terramycin—quickened growth. The report here said only aureomycin had been successfully used on farm animals.

Up to now, aureomycin, like its sister "fungus drugs" penicillin and streptomycin, has been used as a potent weapon against pneumonia, whooping cough, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, undulant fever, and streptococcus and staphylococcus infections.

Dr. Stokstad and Jukes pointed out that even if the growth benefits of aureomycin is confined to the lower animals it could enormously benefit the human race in a world of dwindling resources and expanding population. That is because, making animals grow faster on the same amount of food will conserve the world's food supply.

Braw Pipers End Long Separation

PRESTWICK, Scotland (CP)—Three braw Scotch pipers, kilted and bonneted, skirled "The Road to the Isles" as Mrs. Isabel Morrison, 50, stepped, slightly bemused, from a T.C.A. plane here. Mrs. Morrison was en route from Shady Nook, Alta., to visit her 82-year-old mother in the Hebrides.

Safety Still Depends On Driver

IN ITS MARCH ISSUE, THE CANADIAN Geographic Journal features the efforts of engineers to make highways safe. The magazine article goes into detail to show the manner in which changing demands on roads and changed methods of financing have influenced construction and maintenance. The writer, J. D. Millar, pays particular attention to the safety factors that have been introduced. Dealing with some improvement in design and building, he notes:

"On a four-mile section of the Queen Elizabeth Way immediately west of the City of Toronto only three fatal accidents have occurred in a ten-year period. Two of these were pedestrians and the other a straight case of careless driving. This record, in spite of traffic volumes reaching more than 20,000 vehicles per day in peak periods, is all the more remarkable when it is considered that a large percentage of vehicles are truck transports traveling at night."

The excerpt speaks for itself. Highway construction and design of the nature, of course, cost money, big money. But they pay big dividends in accidents avoided. The arrangements made for Queen Elizabeth Way cannot be applied throughout British Columbia, but the increasing importance attached to the safety factor by engineers is apparent in road construction and realignment on Vancouver Island. The tragedy of high calibre highway design and construction, however, does not necessarily lie in its expense. It is indicated in one phrase in the paragraph quoted from Mr. Millar's article. It is summed up in one of the three accidents reported—"a straight case of careless driving."

There are some people who think that a modern city and a modern countryside would be better off if the roads were not so good, and if they were open only to drivers of small cars capable of a speed no greater than 20 miles per hour. That attitude, in effect, reflects a desire to return to horse-and-buggy days. It does, on the other hand, place the emphasis on safety. Unless the "straight cases of careless driving" are eliminated—and that is purely a human problem—proponents of a 20-mile limit will find their position immeasurably strengthened.

The motorist may laugh at the idea, call it making progress backward. But it is a real progress to make better roads and faster cars that can kill more people on the highway? Whatever the engineers do, in the automobile plant or on the highway, their work is of questionable value until the driver makes greater advances in eliminating the "straight case of careless driving."

Commemorating Good Relations

ONE OF THE MOST PRIZED FACTORS in industry is stability. A manufacturing firm, a commercial enterprise, a public utility, whether of large or small extent, can function with greater ease and economy under conditions devoid of sharp changes or upsets. The desired stability applies not only to sources of raw materials and to markets and the general financial environment; it applies equally to the internal functioning of the company—the personal relations between management and staff that set the tone of all the company's operations. Stability in this sense means long service on the part of employees—a factor which in itself reflects a happy labor situation, for few men or women will spend their whole working lives in one employment if conditions are not to their liking.

There are numerous business firms that have been able to establish long-service organizations among their workers. Quarter Century Clubs, marking 25 years' employment, are not uncommon, and they represent a state of affairs that might well become the standard for all such institutions. Annual recognition of long service has become a regular event, for instance, in the Famous Players Corp. The firm of David Spencer for years had recognized the loyalty of veteran employees. Bell Telephone and other large corporations have similarly given importance to the fact. We mention these developments as lending interest to the inauguration last week of a Quarter Century Club among the employees of the B.C. Electric, a concern whose history has been closely bound with that of this city.

It was in Victoria, for instance, that the now great public utility got its start in 1860 with the construction of a gas plant for local consumers. Thirty years later the first streetcars in western Canada were operated on Victoria streets. By 1897 these utilities were taken over by the newly-formed B.C. Electric Railway Co., which has had an unbroken run of operations ever since. While, of course, no veterans survive from those early days, there were some among the 150 Quarter Century members who gathered here recently who could boast of 50 years of service. In Vancouver, nearly 1,300 met on a similar occasion to recall their years of joint employment. Reflecting a management-labor understanding that would be a credit to any enterprise, the observance would seem to call for congratulations to both parties and a wish for their continued progress.

The Sedgewick Memorial Fund

OF THE THOUSANDS OF BRITISH Columbians who last September mourned the death of Dr. Garnett G. Sedgewick, head of the English Department at the University of B.C., many wished that some fitting tribute might be paid to a man who had done so much for the cultural life of his adopted province. It was felt that a memorial which in some small measure would contribute to the University the things for which Dr. Sedgewick stood, for which he worked, and which he imparted so generously to successive classes of students as well as to the general public, would most suitably honor his memory. Steps are now being taken to achieve such a monument. It will take the form of a Lecture Foundation, under the auspices of which speakers "of scholarly distinction and broad humane sympathies" may be invited to address the University. The project will be sufficiently flexible, however, to permit the trustees, in any year when it may be desirable, to use the funds to provide scholarships, or to add to the assets of the University by purchasing concrete aids to advancement in art, literature or music. The fund will be administered in the full spirit of the "Sedgewick tradition," prolonging its influence for the benefit of all those not fortunate enough to have known the man as University professor, public lecturer, or personal friend. As envisioned, the memorial will be a worthy tribute to a man whose loss was felt throughout this province. Public support should be freely forthcoming when contributions are solicited.

Menzies Moves Against Attempt To Tie Up Australian Ports

By WILLIAM FITTER, from Sydney

AUSTRALIA'S Liberal Prime Minister, Mr. R. G. Menzies, has won the first round of the battle against the Communists which he pledged he would wage relentlessly before he was elected last December. This first round was not of Mr. Menzies' seeking. His main campaign—broad legislation to ban the Australian Communist Party and prohibit Communists from holding office in trades unions—is not yet ready for Parliamentary approval.

ROLLING STRIKES

This initial success for Menzies was brought on by the Communist-led Queensland branch of the Waterside Workers Federation which for six months had been staging "rolling strikes" up and down the Queensland coast, ostensibly to secure the working of ships by rotation of hatches, but, in reality, it is believed, as part of a Communist plan to disrupt shipping throughout the Pacific.

"Rotation of hatches" means that men engaged to work a ship take the holds in rotation from number one held at the bows in the order they are engaged. Under the existing system, the stevedore allots men to the holds in the order he thinks best for the working of the ship.

Menzies stepped in after these strikes had brought Brisbane virtually to a standstill with thousands of tons of goods destined for other states and for Britain lying idle on the wharves. Included among the goods for Britain was the whole of the March sales of wool and much of that bought at the February sales. Mr. Menzies retaliated by proclaiming the Crimes Act—a far-reaching measure which renders any striker or person encouraging a strike liable to one year's imprisonment or, if he is not born in Australia, to deportation.

Mr. Menzies invoked the Act three weeks ago but postponed applying it to the Brisbane wharves for a few days to give the strikers a chance to reconsider their attitude. Broadcasting to the nation Mr. Menzies stressed that the Act was not aimed at trade unions but solely at the Communists who were inspiring the water-front disturbances and crippling the nation's trade and shipping.

After a week-end's thought the Queensland branch of the Waterside Workers Federation advised the men to return to work on March 27 pending a final decision by the Union's Federal executive. That executive later advised a mass meeting of Brisbane's 3,000 water-side workers to continue working and refer the rotation of hatches dispute to arbitration.

The meeting received this advice with loud applause and the men voted its adoption unanimously. The Union's Assistant Federal Secretary, Mr. E. Roach, who is a prominent Communist, was booed and jeered and was told by interrupters, "Sit down Roach, we have heard enough from you."

STAND APPRECIATED

When the news of the workers' decision was received in Canberra, Government members were elated. They said it was evident that Menzies' strong stand was appreciated by the majority of the Queensland water-front workers who were not radicals but were being led by the nose by a few Communist agitators.

Mr. Menzies commented that the Government would not cancel the invocation of the Crimes Act immediately. "This Act was not invoked for one incident only," he said. "It was to deal with what we regard as a campaign. We will just watch the position."

Early Problem

By DR. D. L. MACLAURIN

THE first article in this series recently suggested that teachers, if they do not wish to betray their profession, should unite and set their own price upon the worthy service they render just as business men and members of other professions set their price upon their commodities and services.

This article will present irrefutable proof that teachers, even in the earliest history of this province, were exploited. Let some unsympathetic reader may smile indulgently and say, "That is ancient history; teachers are now well paid," the next article will present equally irrefutable facts that, despite the increase in incomes in all other occupations teachers' salaries in 1948 were no higher by statistical comparison than they were in 1913.

We turn to the shameful records. The original letters from which all quotations in this article are taken may be seen in the Provincial Archives.

UNDER the Ordinance of 1869 the Municipal Council of the City of Victoria became the Local Board for the management of all school affairs. Mr. E. Graham Alston, the Inspector General of Schools, in a letter addressed to the Colonial Secretary under date of July 14, 1870, set forth how this board had managed the schools under its care.

Mr. Graham wrote: "The Victoria School District was defined on July 14, 1869. After a lapse of three months the Local Board proceeded to pass a tax by-law which was not sent up for the Governor's approval until the 25th of November thus losing another month."

"On December 6 the board was informed that it would be necessary to hold a public meeting before the by-law could be approved. Accordingly on December 24 a public meeting was held and the tax carried. The result of the meeting was not forwarded to the Governor until January 4, 1870, and the by-law was finally approved on January 26, nearly six months after the passing of the ordinance. The collection of the school tax was commenced on February 22 and the total amount collected up to the end of June, 1870, was only $516."

"The school teachers up to the end of 1869 had received only the government grant, at the rate of $500 per annum and nothing whatever from the Local Board, although they were verbally promised a salary of $75 per month each (including the government grant). For this year up to the present time they have received from the Local Board on account of salary the sum of $100 each only, and were it not that the Governor ordered the payment to them of a portion of the arrears under the Vancouver Island Schools Act, I do not know how they could have existed."

"On the ninth of June last (five months after the by-law was approved and 11 months after the district was legally defined) the Local Board instructed the Collector to summon before the magistrate all persons who refused to pay the School Tax, but shortly afterwards he received verbal instructions from the Chairman of the Board not to enforce its collection."

"The Local Board have undertaken very important, and may be troublesome duties, and they should be prepared to perform them and I can hardly believe that any person would murmur at the contribution of $2 per annum towards the support of education in the most important Town in the Colony. But in order that the teachers, who are so ill-paid (or rather in this case, not paid at all) for their valuable services, may not suffer for the neglect of others, I beg to recommend that the Government grant for the half-year be paid to them personally, leaving to them to consider the propriety of resigning their positions."

GOVERNOR MURGRAVE instructed the Colonial Secretary to reply to Inspector E. Graham Alston's letter as follows:

"Acquaint Mr. Alston that while I much regret the present state of affairs and the hardship which it works to the school teachers, I think it very dangerous to establish the precedent that the Government is to be relied upon to supply the omissions or correct the errors of the Municipal Council, and that the teachers are to look to the Government. The grant is only a grant in aid, and there is no 'priority' between the Government and the teachers, who are not government officers."

The writer of this article after 36 years' experience as an officer in the Department of Education of British Columbia realizes how often the Government is besought "to supply the omissions or correct the errors" of local authorities.

ON September 14, 1870, the Inspector General of Schools addressed the Colonial Secretary as follows:

"I beg to report for the information of His Excellency that the Victoria Common School is closed; the teachers having been compelled to adopt this course in consequence of the Local Board having neglected to pay them the salaries promised."

"I do not propose to move in the matter, as I think the teachers should have taken this step months ago—and I hope that public opinion will be strong enough to compel the Local Board to perform their duties."

So under the Municipal Council of Victoria in its capacity of Local Board in charge of school affairs the Victoria school closed and remained closed for two years until August 19, 1872.

Just what would happen if the teachers as a united body from Newfoundland to British Columbia took that "step" now as a protest against their continuing exploitation in the pitifully small remuneration paid to them, the highest profession in any country?

As Our Readers See It

BOUQUETS

I wish to express the appreciation of the instructors and students of the Victoria Normal School for the thoughtful, sympathetic and understanding criticism of our spring concert program printed in the Tuesday edition of the "Times." Such reporting helps give the public a proper appreciation of the educational work being done at this school.

Please extend our special thanks to Mrs. St. Denis Johnson for her first rate report.

YOUNG HOODLUMS

In regard to a letter in your paper, dated April 6, and headed "Young Hoodlums," I would like to say a few words.

First of all, did the "exasperated" person who wrote the letter ever think of the real reasons why there are so many hoodlums on our streets, and why gangsterism is increasing daily in our cities and towns? I hardly think so. What are young people supposed to do at night? Sit at home and read the various comic books, which are just as bad as the previous crime comics recently banned?

The Arena, completed several months ago, was made and paid for by the people of Victoria. Yet many children cannot afford to see the games, or engage in other Arena sports, because of high admission prices. Arena prices are nearly the highest in Canada.

More tax money should be spent for playground and gym equipment, instead of beautifying parks, to attract tourists, and in turn make money for the businessmen; while children roam the streets.

Schools and church gyms should be opened certain nights with trained supervisors. I think if a few more steps were taken in this order, there would be less children roaming the streets at night.

A ROYAL COMMISSION

Most of the better people in this province will feel a sense of satisfaction at the forthright remarks of the Attorney-General, when he addressed the Legislature recently on the liquor question.

Mr. Wismer is reported to have said that he would not pay much attention to noisy minorities, nor would the Government be greatly influenced by pressure groups whose sole interests were personal profits. He added that he would make a thorough study of the whole liquor question before recommending any new legislation.

Now that is all to the good, but would not the Government be in a still stronger position if they would appoint a Royal Commission of independent persons, who would have power to call witnesses and take evidence under oath? Such a commission would, among other things, inquire into the effects of the liquor traffic on industrial and economic life, upon public service and home conditions, on crime and law enforcement, upon taxation, health, hospitalization, etc.

This seems to be the only method which would give the people the facts they are entitled to have, and without which they would be in no position to decide what should be done. It would be unfair and immoral to ask people to vote on a plebiscite while withholding relevant information. Moreover, if the Government would appoint such a commission it would put an end to the loose talk about the administration being afraid to have the facts known.

After the commission would have reported to the government, let us then have such legislation as a majority of the people want, let all loyal citizens learn to obey the law and let there be an end to all this talk about minority rule, antiquated laws, and discredited practices.

ENGLAND IN SPRING

Many readers of your paper have written their impressions of England after recent visits, all different.

Miss Jean Anders, who left Victoria nearly a year ago on an extended visit to relatives, is now traveling back to Canada. In her own words she contradicts her father's warning that "distant fields look greener." She loves England and hates to leave it, and though she will be glad to see her family again she "can't help feeling sad at the thought of leaving England, especially as it is beautiful balmy weather (March 25) with flowers springing up all over the place."

Miss Anders' letters have expressed her delight in the historic buildings in London and elsewhere and in the beautiful countryside through which she has traveled.

She has waited two and a half hours in a queue to see one of Britain's foremost actors, in person, and said "it was well worth waiting for." She did a lot of sight-seeing during a recent visit to Paris, but it is to England she has given her love.

When Miss Anders arrives home after a visit to Toronto en route, it will be very refreshing to hear first hand a young Canadian girl's impression of the Old Country.

HERE WE GO AGAIN

Still Marian Sherman writes letters, but seems to add little to them as they accumulate. Referring to her two last ones may I reply briefly as I quote the following statements made by her?

1. "What matter why, how or when the universe began?" Even a child might ask in reply, "This must mean that there is no object in studying geology or history or astrology to benefit our society."

2. "What need is there to assume a God in order to bring minds into harmony?" To this question I would ask another. Is there any reason at all to man's age-long seeking for the source of all truth and hope, and strength and beauty? If we do not assume such a source (God), then what are we looking for? And where else are these ingredients of "harmony" to be found?

3. "Unbelievers, such as I, live by knowledge and have no need of doctrinal belief." I would say, for myself, that the sum total of man's knowledge is nothing to live by, when, after two world wars, it does not seem to be leading the way to any Utopia. But even an atheist worships something and lives accordingly, even if that something is a nebulous "knowledge" emanating from man's tiny and uncomprehending mind.

4. Finally I quote, "We know that there is one 'law' . . . it is contained in the words: Love one another." There are two laws (Commandments): Thou shalt love the Lord thy God . . . this is the first and great commandment, and thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself; upon these two commandments hang all the laws.

Marian Sherman and many others who do not think things out to logical conclusions, want a world order based on the Brotherhood of Man without having first a common Fatherhood in God . . . the one cannot exist without the other, and if there is one law only, this is it.

DAILY IT BECOMES increasingly apparent that the re-establishment of peace and prosperity in Europe cannot be achieved until the problem of Germany's future has been disposed of.

The United States High Commissioner in Germany, John J. McCloy, tells us that "the fact is we cannot solve the German problem without fitting it into the larger context of a united Europe."

And State Secretary Dean Acheson, by way of implementing this idea, declares that the U.S. favors immediate steps to fit Germany into the organization of Western Europe. He wants Germany to join the Council of Europe, comprising the 12 North Atlantic countries, including the U.S.

Germany already has been offered associate membership in that organization, but hasn't yet responded. The council meets in London about mid-May and the matter may be pursued at that time.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German government believes Germany's future lies with Western Europe. However, he presses for German equality and security which the French, in particular, are worried about.

The main issue, from the western standpoint, is whether Britain will throw her full weight into such a union with the idea of counter-balancing German membership.

The French are said to take the position that a union of Western Europe which included themselves and Germany, but lacked full British support, would soon become unbalanced. In Germany's favor. That makes Paris ponder in terms of another world war, although the western allies have thumbs firmly down on German rearmament.

But assuming all these difficulties have been ironed out, there still remains a problem which is a potential breeder of conflict—the question of Russia and the Western Powers reaching agreement for a united Germany.

Such an arrangement would give Russia control of the key position, economically and militarily, in Central Europe.

So the best the western allies can do at this juncture is to hold on to Western Germany, on the basis that half a loaf is better than none. However, as I see it, that leaves us facing the likelihood of another upheaval which will grow out of the dismemberment of Germany and the determination of her people to reunite.

NO SUCH ANIMAL?

NEA Service

Biggest off-the-record story in Washington today is the flying saucer. Officially, air force and civilian aviation agencies have taken the position that there ain't no such animal as a flying saucer. They have never seen one and have no photographs or visible proof. Privately most officials believe there's something to it.

USES FOR PLASTICS

Windsor Star

Many are the uses to which plastics are being put, some of them queer indeed. A British firm has found a lucrative market in the Orient for chopsticks.

They may cause something of a social revolution in the East. There the wealthier families were able to afford ivory chopsticks, while the poor classes had to be content with less efficient and less attractive bamboo ones.

The new plastic chopsticks so closely resemble ivory that no longer will one be able to decide an Oriental's economic status simply by a glance at his chopsticks.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THERE'S something in everybody," said the Elevator Man, "that makes them like to dress up. A kid with his first long pants, a fella with a new tie, a woman with a new hat or dress—it seems to create an occasion to strut your stuff and show yourself off. Everybody likes to be admired, and if snappy clothes are a person's main claim to admiration, I guess they should make the most of it. Some men are self-made. Others are the product of the best tailor they can afford. Sometimes the tailor does the better job. Going down!"

"As a matter of fact," said the Elevator Man, "it's quite a sight to see the Easter Parade. Makes you feel it's not a bad old world after all—and wish you owned a few shares in a clothing firm. A lot of people like to scoff at the new styles they see on the streets on Easter Sunday. But you'll likely find them down bright and early on Monday morning, trying to get copies. Hats, of course, are the main item with the ladies. In the old days a hat was a big thing with flowers pinned on it. Now it's flowers with a bit of material attached. The most successful hat seems to be the one that gives the impression that there's no hat there. Something like the evening gown in that respect, maybe. Mezzanine!"

"Ten years ago," said the Elevator Man, "the most popular colors for men were khaki, navy blue or air force blue. Those solved the Easter problem for a lot of fellas. I wonder what we'll all be wearing 10 years from now. The experts say a white sheet is the best protection against atomic flash burns. That'll make a pretty ghostly-looking parade. We'll just need to carry a lily and we'll be all ready for the bomb."

$250,000 Fire In Downtown Moncton

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Ten families were left homeless Sunday when a $250,000 fire, fanned by a howling gale, raced through a main street business and apartment block here.

Firemen fought the flames in below-freezing temperatures while residents of the building escaped in night attire, leaving behind all their possessions. The Red Cross fire disaster committee provided clothing and temporary accommodation for the homeless.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries while fighting the blaze with 17 inches of snow underfoot. Gusts of wind reached velocities of 65 miles an hour during the gale.

Four business establishments were gutted. The 10 destroyed apartments were on the second floor, over the business establishments. The fire broke out at midnight and the fire chief said it apparently started in a tobacco shop.

Killed As Kite Wire Strikes Power Line

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—James Ernest Johnson, 30, a florist, was killed Sunday when the florist wire he had attached to a kite came in contact with an 11,000-volt electric power line near here.

Constable John G. Gregg said Johnson's children, Janice Ann, 6½, and Ernest Jr., 5, told him they heard a loud report and saw a flash as their father dropped to the ground.

Johnson served in the Marine Corps during the Second World War.

was named in honour of Andreas Dahl, the Swedish botanist, which makes "dalyah" correct. The Dahlia (day-lee-ah) is a genus of leguminous shrubs with pea-like flowers to which the Smoke Tree of Colorado (Dalea spinesa) belongs.

The tubers should have been washed before storing. If this was omitted, attend to it first. The plant is a gross feeder which explains the reason for poor blooms when clumps are planted instead of individual tubers.

For the present we set the tubers in shallow boxes of damp sand, peat moss, or light soil, and place them in a warm, light place.

Buds will develop where the tubers join the old stalk. As soon as these can be clearly seen the tubers are removed by cutting into the stem so as to leave one or two eyes attached to each. Tubers without eyes are discarded.

To propagate extensively, a desired variety, all the buds may be grown on until two sets of leaves have developed, after which the shoots are cut off and rooted as cuttings. The cut is made immediately below the first set of leaves, those nearest the tuber. A razor blade does this job very well. In the trade these rooted cuttings are known as "green plants."

The Dahlia is a native of Mexico where it enjoys a hot, high, dry climate, therefore planting outside must not be attempted until frost is over for your district.

Arms Smuggled Into Indo-China Both To Reds, Guerrilla Groups

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—International rings are reported smuggling about $500,000 worth of small arms a month from Thailand (Siam) into Indo-China to supply both the Communist-led forces of Ho Chi-minh and various dissident guerrilla groups.

Well-informed quarters which make this estimate say it is a conservative one. It covers only activities of known smuggling gangs. Others may have kept their operations completely dark.

These sources say the traffic includes automatic weapons, rifles, pistols and grenades. Payment for the bulk of it is made in Indo-Chinese piastres at the rate of 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 a month. The piastre is officially worth five U.S. cents, but sells on the open market in Hongkong for two cents.

Bangkok is described as the co-ordination centre for the arms trade, but Manila is said to be the central supply point, not only for Indo-China but for the other disturbed areas of Southeast Asia.

Seaplanes and fast motorboats can easily land their cargoes on sections of the Thailand coast that are either unguarded or not controlled by the Bangkok government.

From there the arms move into the Indo-China kingdoms of Cambodia and Laos.

The French police have been unable to halt the smuggling, which has been a chronic problem for years.

Oil makes a country strong

Try to imagine life without oil! Oil supplies one-quarter of all the heat and power we use... in home and factory, on farm and highway. It helps us live better.

For years Canadians have had to depend on foreign countries for almost all the oil they used. Now, after a long and costly search, big new fields have been found in Alberta.

The more oil we produce right here in Canada the stronger we will be. Already the new discoveries have made thousands of new jobs. Millions of U.S. dollars once needed for imported oil are now being saved by the new oil fields, and the prairie consumers are saving money too.

In order that Canadians may reap further benefits, Alberta oil must reach new markets. It must be moved to eastern Canada—2,000 miles away—where it must compete with oil from other areas. That means holding transport costs down to a minimum.

To bring Alberta oil east a tube of steel will span one-third of the continent—from Edmonton to Lake Superior. It is taking shape now. To carry the oil on to Ontario refineries, the largest inland tankers ever built are being constructed in Canadian yards.

There's a big job still to be done before the full benefits of the new oil discoveries reach all Canadians. But the job is being carried on with increasing benefit to all of us. Oil is strengthening the nation.

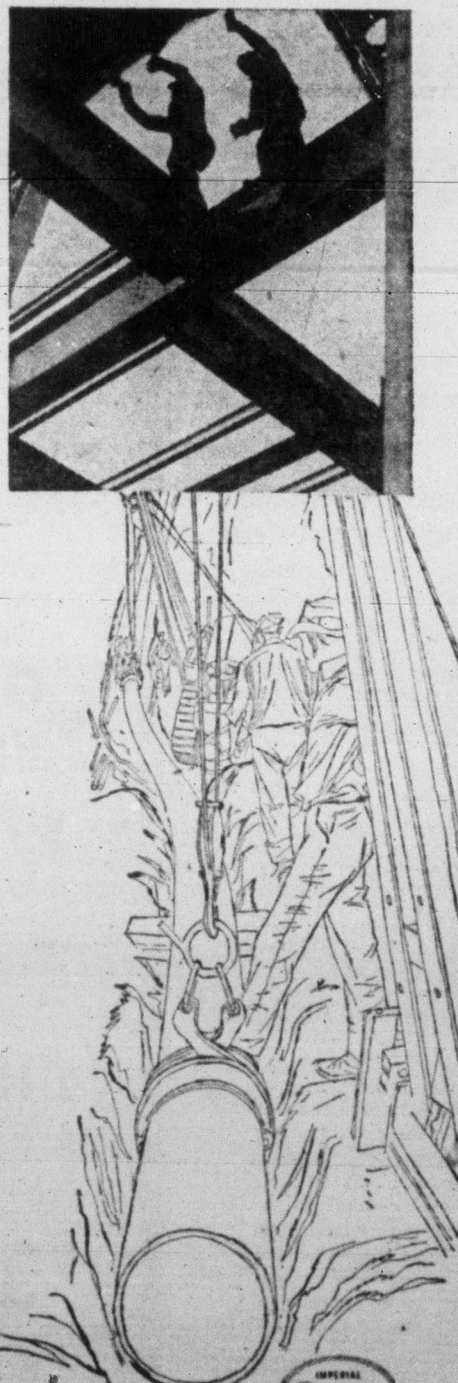

Bringing you oil is a big job
... and a costly one

About Canada's Oil—Last year Canadians used an average of 300 gallons of oil each. This is more, per capita, than any nation except the United States.

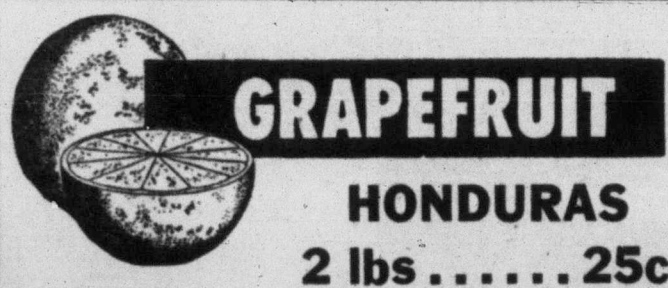

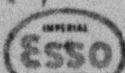

By replacing imports, Canadian oil production is expected to save 100 million scarce U.S. dollars in 1950; next year, $145 millions.

Imperial is building a new refinery at Winnipeg at a cost of $10 millions to process Alberta Oil.

The 1,180-mile pipe line from Edmonton to Lake Superior is being built by Interprovincial Pipe Line Co., which was sponsored by Imperial and in which Imperial holds a minority interest.

Maj. Searies has saucerful of trouble telling world Uncle Sam's official view of flying objects, from hub caps to pie plates.

'Saucer' Debunker Has Rugged Pentagon Life

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Armed only with an old-dogged press release, Maj. DeWitt R. Searies is making a heroic stand between the flying saucer threat and the whole rest of the world.

Military unification, operating in its purest, jet-propelled form, has played the cruel trick of assigning Maj. Searies as Uncle Sam's official debunker of the flying saucer. Hour after hour in his Pentagon office, day after day, on the telephone, in interviews, at home, before breakfast, on Sunday night, Maj. Searies keeps repeating:

"No, no, a thousand times no. As far as the air force goes there's no such thing as a flying saucer. Further, there are no such things as flying chromium hub caps, flying dimes, flying tear drops, flying gas lights, flying ice cream cones or flying pie plates, thank you and goodbye."

All of these items have been reported seen by reliable witnesses. It's Searies' corollary function to deny their existence. If the saucer thing turns out as something other than liver spots before the bloodshot eye, Maj. Searies will automatically become the reddest-faced air force officer in history.

Searies' saucerful of trouble goes back to a fateful Tuesday, June 24, 1947. A Boise, Idaho, businessman, Kenneth Arnold, was flying his private plane over the jagged peaks of Washington's Mount Ranier. When he landed, he breathlessly reported having seen "a chain of nine saucer-like objects playing tag at fantastic speeds." What happened after that is a unique chapter in American history.

On Jan. 22, 1948, "unification" gave the air force the job of looking into saucers for the rest of the services, and for the rest of the government. On April 27, 1948, in a lengthy report, the air force concluded that the "saucers are neither a joke, nor a cause for alarm." But on Dec. 27, 1949, an air force press release admitted, in effect, that saucers were a joke after all and that it would have not more truck with the whole business. It said flatly:

"The air force finds that all evidence and analyses indicate that the reports of unidentified flying objects are the result of: (1) Misinterpretation of various conventional objects; (2) a mild form of mass hysteria; (3) or hoaxes."

When the saucer craze got hot again, Searies found himself in the air force section of the National Military Establishment public relations office, which is how he inherited his present task. In his thick collection of air force press releases he has the one of Dec. 27, 1949, tabbed "Death of the flying saucers." When a questioner gets particularly persistent, he'll read him the full text of the release.

FAME SPREADING

Searies' fame is spreading government-wide. Cabinet officers, Congressmen, army generals, and the navy's admirals particularly, take pleasure in referring even the top-level and most frenzied saucer queries to the Searies saucer debunker.

Searies says it's impossible to estimate just how many times in the past few weeks he had to restate the air force's position on the flying saucer. "But it's well into the thousands," he admits. There's even a diplomatic angle to Searies' job. A long-distance query concerned saucers reported seen in Egypt. The Egyptian government wanted to know if the U.S. air force thought there was any cause for alarm. Searies read the full text over the telephone on that one. Similar calls have come on saucers reported in Mexico, Canada and in Europe.

It is no longer a source of dismay to Searies to know that questions on every saucer reported seen in the world will eventually seep down to him. The same courage he showed as commanding officer of a fighter squadron in the Pacific—he is credited with shooting down three Japs—is standing by him in this ordeal. He says he doesn't even have any hard feelings toward saucers.

Rejoicing, Prayers Mark Easter Of 1950 In All Christian Lands

By CANADIAN PRESS

The worried Christian world returned to everyday business after an Easter dedicated to prayers for peace.

Throughout the Christian countries that believe in a Saviour risen from the dead, the faithful Sunday knelt in pleas for the dead and wounded of the Second World War. Everywhere they asked that war's destruction would not be repeated.

At St. Peter's Basilica, in Rome, 500,000 Holy Year pilgrims of the Roman Catholic Church heard Pope Pius plead for a return to the Gospel spirit and the idea of social justice.

CROWDS IN JERUSALEM

The Holy City of Jerusalem was jammed for services at the shrines dedicated to Christ's death and resurrection. At the Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre, more than 10,000 persons knelt in prayer.

In Britain Bonnie Prince Charlie stole the show. The Queen held up the infant son of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip for the delight of a crowd gathered at Windsor Castle for an Easter concert. Cheers for Charlie drowned out the music. Traces of a midnight snow were seen for a while on New York's streets, but from dawn the city's churches were packed.

Fifth Avenue's annual Easter parade was sobered by a surprise cold snap which cut through lightweight spring garments. But bright sunlight later in the day brought sidewalk packing hordes into the thoroughfare, with bright flowered hats to relieve the wintry blues that were favored costumes.

In the midwest the weather man was kinder. At Lawton, Okla., brisk winds gave way to a mild and calm atmosphere during which 125,000 persons of all faiths gathered for a four-hour pageant on the granite hillsides.

In Vatican City an estimated 50,000 Holy Year visitors filled St. Peter's as the Pontiff spoke in a firm, strong voice. Another 450,000—mostly Romans—stood in St. Peter's Square and heard his words, spoken in Latin, from a battery of loud speakers that poured forth the almost three-hour program.

The Pope urged his listeners to contemplate the words of Christ to his apostles: "Peace I leave with you, My peace I give you, not as the world giveth, do I give unto you."

THE GREAT EXAMPLE

He then said:

"By bitter experience, well do we know how many crimes, massacres and wars have been caused because men abandoned the royal road which the Divine Redeemer pointed out by His shining example and consecrated with His blood."

A martial note was struck by the presence of four battalions of Italian carabinieri, in full dress, in the square. Some thought they were there to provide protection for the Pope if he were carried through the square. The 74-year-old Pontiff, however, gave his blessing to the crowd from the top of the steps overlooking the piazza—a tiny figure almost invisible to the thousands at the far end of the square.

SUB STAYS SUBMERGED 21 DAYS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy has announced that one of its snorkel-type submarines has made a 21-day, 5,200-mile run from Hongkong to Pearl Harbor without surfacing.

There was no official claim to a record for submerged voyages, but officers said that as far as they know it was the longest run ever made all under water.

The precise time during which the submarine Pickrel relied on its snorkel "breathing" apparatus was given as 505 hours, one hour over 21 days. The submarine dived off Hongkong March 15 and came up at the Hawaiian naval base April 5.

Saskatchewan Legislature Winds Up Hectic Session

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan Legislature prorogued during the week-end after a hectic session that saw 101 bills passed and a whopping $55,000,000 budget brought down.

The C.C.F. government spent most of the 38-day sitting defending its estimates. The 21-member opposition attacked item after item as departmental figures were presented, criticizing the government for spending more than the people could afford.

The government countered with the argument that money spent on social welfare projects was more useful than funds lying in surpluses.

The budget was a record, topping last year's expenditure figures by about $6,000,000.

Possibly the most contentious measure to hit the floor was the new 3 per cent education and hospital services tax.

U.N. Reaches Crossroads Over Chinese Representation Issue

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations is stalled at a crossroads.

No quick solution to the deadlock over the Chinese representation issue was seen today among U.N. quarters. Lacking a solution, the prospect appeared to be a United Nations without Russia.

The impasse: Russia has declared in boycotting 18 U.N. groups that she will not return until Chinese Nationalist delegates are ousted to make way for admission of Communist China.

The majority in each of the 18 groups has rejected the Russian ouster proposals. To break the deadlock, either Russia must back down on her demands or a majority of U.N. members be found to expel the Chinese Nationalists.

No possibility is seen that Russia will come back and sit at conference tables with Chinese Nationalist delegates present. There is some chance that eventually a majority of U.N. members will withdraw recognition from the Formosa regime of Chiang Kai-Shek, Nationalist leader.

So far, of the U.N.'s 59 members, 44 including Canada, continue to recognize Chiang. To build a majority capable of expelling Chiang's representatives here, 14 would have to withdraw recognition from Chiang.

D.V.A. Officials To Tour Island

An up-island visit will be made by S. H. Okell, assistant district administrator, and E. G. Drage, hospital administrative officer, to meet veterans' officers, D.V.A. representatives and committees, and Canadian Legion officials. They will visit Duncan and Chemainus, Ladysmith and Nanaimo, April 24; Parksville and Port Alberni, April 25; Qualicum, Cumberland, Courtenay and Campbell River, April 27, and will spend all day April 28 at Courtenay and Comox.

If a solution comes, the first break is likely to come in the 11-member Security Council, the key peace-keeping body. Five of the council's members have recognized Communist China. They are Britain, Norway, India, Yugoslavia and Russia.

DIDN'T KNOW WAR ENDED

They told Philippine Constabulary troopers in Pangasinan Province they had become tired of living on roots, fruit and wild game for more than five years.

Death Of Mental Patient Brings Guards To Trial

QUEBEC (CP)—Two guards at the St. Michel Archange Hospital for the insane were charged Saturday with manslaughter in the death of a 45-year-old mental patient from multiple rib fractures and crushing of the breastbone.

The two accused guards are Conrad Asselin, 31, of St. Damien, Que., and Emmanuel Audet, 34, of suburban Giffard. They were freed on $1,500 bonds and preliminary hearing was fixed for April 13.

The arrest of the two guards came as the result of a privately-held coroner's inquest at the large grey-stone hospital on the outskirts of the city.

The patient, Arthur Pare, 45, of St. Fabien de Panet, Que., died Wednesday.

Defence counsel Yves Prevost told Judge Laetare Roy, the mental patient, died while the two guards were exercising their "delicate and difficult functions."

West's Draw First Blood In Solarium Cup Soccer

A two-goal performance by Eric Coles of Canadian Legion was all to no avail at lower Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon as Victoria West came from behind to defeat the Vets, 3 to 2, in a first-round Solarium Cup match.

Play ranged from end to end in the keenly-fought tussle with Legion striking for a goal in the first 10 minutes. Taking advantage of some weak play by the Vets in front of the goal, Bernie Clarkson and Alex Whyte put West in the lead shortly before half time and the greenhorns never looked back.

After the breather West made it 3 to 1 on a goal by Joe Travis. Five minutes from time Coles got his second marker for the Vets.

HEANEY'S BLANKED

In a first-round match of the Jackson Cup series Saturday Esquimalt shut out Heaney's 2 to 0. The dockers enjoyed a wide margin on the play and could easily have run up a much-higher score. Veteran Gordon Hayward fired home the opening goal for Esquimalt with Johnny Christenson's marker closing out the scoring for the afternoon. Heaney's had few good scoring chances and displayed poor finish around their opponent's net.

TROPHY WANTED
Secretary Don Gray of the Victoria and District League, who a short time ago issued a call for all soccer trophies, announced today all but the Phoenix Cup have been accounted for. Anyone having this trophy in his possession is asked to contact Gray as soon as possible.

NANAIMO (CP) — Penticton Vets Saturday captured their two-game, total-point senior B basketball series with Nanaimo by virtue of a 48 to 54 win. Penticton annexed the series 82 to 79, after winning Friday night 34 to 25.

BLACK EYE FOR RUGBY

Badly-Marked Field, Broken Posts Ruin Senior Provincial Final

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
VANCOUVER — Victoria College Vikings invaded the mainland Saturday, and were chopped down by Ex-Britannia, 17 to 8, on a quagmire called a rugby field. On their play College deserved to lose the Rounsefell cup and the senior rugby championship of British Columbia. But on a sloping field, badly marked and without proper goal-posts, both sides played inferior rugby.

Favored by the downhill slope, Vancouver started the game with a powerful offensive. Before the half was 15 minutes old Britannia's Phil Hanson had kicked a penalty goal and converted Ray Cocking's try, scored after a clumsy Victoria clearance. College fought back hard and there was no more scoring until five minutes before time when big John Olson kicked a penalty goal for Vikings' first points.

ATTACK FAILS
Second half opened with College moving down hill in full control of the play. After 10 minutes on the offensive College's attack fell to pieces, and determined rushes by Ex-Brits' hustling forwards cut deep into Viking territory.

Taking advantage of College fumbles, Vancouver's Djubo Genneive and Cocking scored two quick, unconverted tries. Hanson promptly added another penalty goal to complete Brits' scoring. College finally came to life but clever defensive work held them from pay dirt until five minutes from time, when Olson went over the line from a loose scrum. Playing coach Scott Kerr's conversion added the extra points.

Disgusted by the condition of the field, coach Kerr, secretary of Victoria Rugby Union, voiced the opinion of both teams when he said: "That game did more to kill rugby in B.C. than anything I ever saw. No wonder rugby is dying in B.C. when officials show no interest. The arrangements for the game and the condition of that field were a disgrace to organized rugby." Vikings arrived in Vancouver to find, at Douglas Park, a field without goalposts and hardly visible lines. The players themselves were forced to erect the posts, one of which was broken at the crossbar. Quipped one College player: "Someone run and get a picture of that pitch and goalpost; they'll never believe us back home."

TOURING PLAYERS WIN ARGUMENT WITH P.G.A.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Touring golf stars have won their fight with the United States Professional Golfers' Association for more say-so in operating tournaments. They will remain in the P.G.A.

Difficulties between the two groups were ironed out in adoption of a series of proposals which Tom Crane, P.G.A. executive secretary, said will provide the players "with complete self operation of tournament affairs within the structure of the association."

George Schneider ousted last Monday as P.G.A. tournament manager, will not be included in the new set-up.

Demaret Takes Third Straight

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Jimmy Demaret won his third and record-breaking Masters golf tournament Sunday after Jim Ferrier had the title in his grasp and threw it away.

Playing golf as sensational as his Easter garb, Jimmy shot the final round in 69 strokes, three under par, for a 72-hole total of 283.

Ferrier, who started the day with a two-stroke lead over the field and four over Demaret, lost it all on the last six holes. Two under par at that stage, he went over on five of the next six to finish two strokes behind the new champion with 285.

That made Demaret the first golfer ever to win the Masters three times.

He took the title with a 280 score in 1940 and repeated with 281 in 1947. Only two others, Horton Smith and Byron Nelson, have won twice.

HOGAN FALTERS

Ben Hogan, regarded as Ferrier's toughest challenger when the final round began, couldn't hold the pace, finishing with a 76 for 288, even-par figures for the four rounds.

Par for the testing 6,900-yard Augusta national course is 36-36.

Sam Snead, last year's winner, took third place with a last-round 72 for 287. Nelson, who had a 74 Sunday, tied Hogan for fourth place.

Nobody else in the selected field was even close to the winner.

Undisturbed by the crowd, Demaret played the steadiest golf of the tournament to win. He had rounds of 70, 72, 72 and 69, which included 11 three-putts. But Jimmy was long and straight off the tee, an important factor on this big, rolling course. He was under par four times in a row on the 480-yard 13th hole, one of the longest on the course, and twice scored eagles there.

Starless Night has established an odd racing record. In his last five starts of 1949 the thoroughbred finished fifth, fourth, third, second and first in that order. In his first four starts of 1950 Starless Night finished fourth, third, second and first in order.

Jockey Sammy Palumbo won 524 races at the same track. Palumbo built up the high total at Charles Town, W.Va., from 1938 to 1949, inclusive.

Eilers Hold Game Lead In Cage Playoff

TORONTO (CP)—Vancouver

Eilers, western Canada champions, came from behind in the second half here Saturday night to trim Toronto Montgomery Maids 60 to 53 in the opening of their best-of-five Canadian senior girls' basketball final.

The Maids gained an early lead with a volley of set shots that left the westerners disorganized throughout the first quarter.

The visitors found their scoring legs and outpointed the Maids 18 to 13 in the second quarter and finished at half time on the tail end of a 28 to 27 count.

Cage centre star, Beverley Slater, set the scoring pace for the night with 13 points—seven out of 10 foul shots counted, and three baskets scored with a one-hand hook shot that had her checked fooled every time.

The only Vancouverites that came close to Slater's score were Mearnie Summers and Joyce Fairweather with eight tallies each. But every member of the Eilers team had a hand in their 60 points, a tribute to their co-operation.

Grant Mahood's Labrador Wins At Parksville

PARKSVILLE (CP)—Rip of Holly Hill, a black Labrador owned by Grant Mahood of White Rock, B.C., Sunday became an international champion by winning the open, all-age stake here.

Rip, handled by Roy Gonia of McKenna, Wash., defeated a field of 18 dogs in a three-series trial. He is already an American field champion.

Second was Willwa of Trab, a young field champion Labrador owned by Bart Spellman of Seattle. A Bremerton, Wash., owner, James Bryan Jr., handled his Jibodad Gypsy into third place.

Grouse of Trabington, owned by Al Schmidt of Portland, earned a certificate of merit.

Lorrendon's Dusty Day, owned by Mrs. R. M. Abernethy, won the shooting dog stake Saturday. Winner of the Vancouver Island handler's stake, held Saturday, was Oakwood Jack, owned and handled by A. E. Jolivet of Victoria.

Sherwin Leader In Rifle Shoot

In the opening outdoor shoot of the season at Healy's Range over the holiday week-end Second Lieut. Arthur Sherwin of the 75th (BC) HAA Regiment turned in the high score with 98 out of a possible 100.

Officer cadet Fred Richardson of the same regiment was second with a 97. Lieut. Hugh Thorburn was third and was high man of the Canadian Scottish Regiment with his 95.

REISE'S GOAL EARNS DETROIT SERIES WIN

Lone Score Decides Thriller In Overtime

DETROIT (CP)—A six-foot defenceman wrote a story-book finish to Toronto Maple Leafs' three-year reign as Stanley Cup hockey champions last night.

Blond Leo Reise, who wasn't even a regular until this season, fired only two goals for Detroit Red Wings in their bitterly-fought semifinal series. But both those goals, scored in overtime, won games for the Detroiters that they just couldn't afford to lose.

Leo sewed up the seven-game series Sunday night when he took a pass from centre George Gee at 8:39 in the first overtime period and whistled a 10-foot drive past Walter (Turk) Broda in the Toronto nets for the only goal of the game. That gave the Wings a 4 to 3 edge in games and sent them against New York Rangers in the final round.

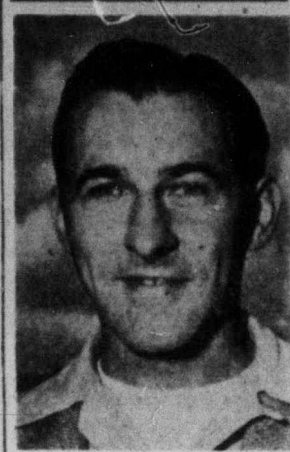

It was virtually a repeat of what happened in Toronto last Tuesday. The Red Wings, trailing 2 to 1 in games, went into overtime with the score tied, 1 to 1. Again Gee started the play that ended as Reise fired home a 15-footer to end the game after 20 minutes and 38 seconds of extra play.

GOT HIS BREAK

The 27-year-old Hamilton youngster only hit the starting line-up when Detroit traded all-star defenceman Bill Quackenbush to Boston last summer in an effort to bolster their offense. Ironically, Jimmy Peters and Pete Babando, the two forwards who came to the Wings in the deal, were out with injuries for most of the Toronto-Detroit series.

But Reise was in there. The storm-centre of a few stick-swinging episodes in the first two games, he settled down to solid defensive play and fired those two tallies that broke the hearts of the battling Leafs.

Last night's result put the Red Wings out in front for the first time in the series. Toronto's 5 to 1 victory in the first game started a turn about pattern in which the teams looked good and

Shores Defeat United In Slow Football Match

VANCOUVER—Two goals late in the second half provided North Shore with a 3 to 1 victory over Victoria United here Saturday in a tame Coast League soccer match. Two points enabled North Shore to keep alive its hopes for the second half honors.

North Shore's Fred Whittaker scored the only goal of the first half from a scramble.

Victoria improved in the second half but the forwards lacked cohesion and were rarely dangerous around the opposition goal.

Tom Druce tied the game 30 minutes into the second canto, banging home a loose ball from close in.

North Shore came right back and Bill Smith fired one home from close range to put the Reds out in front again. Jimmy Spencer got the final tally of the day, converting a penalty kick awarded against United's back Murray Speller for spilling Smith in the penalty area.

Among the countless thousands of fans who heard the game on radio or watched it on television, none was more vitally interested than the lone figure who saw it on a television set at Detroit's Harper Hospital.

He was the injured Gordie Howe of the Wings.

Luke Easter Hurt Again

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Luke Easter, the Cleveland Indians' hard-hitting rookie outfielder, was injured Sunday as the Tribesmen came through with 19 hits to defeat New York Giants 12 to 6.

Easter, who has nailed down an outfield berth with the club, suffered a slight shoulder separation in the third inning when hit by centre fielder Bob Kennedy's knee.

Trainer Wally Bock said Easter would be out for the duration of the exhibition season and might not be ready for the club's opening game April 18.

COACH PAYS TRIBUTE TO DETROIT CLUB

Lauds Wings For Great Comeback After Howe Hurt

DETROIT (CP)—Conn Smythe shook hands with his dethroned Stanley Cup champions Sunday night and said: "This has been a great team and it went out like a champion."

Then the managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs crossed the corridor to Detroit Red Wings' dressing room to congratulate the team that had ousted his Leafs in the seventh and deciding game of their cup semifinal.

The Detroit dressing-room was a mass of happy players milling about and pounding each other on the back.

"I never saw a team come back like this one did after Gordie Howe was hurt and we seemed just about out of the series," said Coach Tommy Ivan of the Detroiters.

Goalie Harry Lumley and Leo Reise, who scored last night's only goal, took the lion's share of applause from their teammates, but both said a lot of the congratulations should go to Toronto's great goalie, Turk Broda.

When the regulation 60 minutes ended last night it marked his fourth "shutout" against the National Hockey League champions.

Speaking of Reise's goal, Broda said: "I never saw the puck until it hit the net and bounced back out between my feet. I looked down and there it was."

Among the countless thousands of fans who heard the game on radio or watched it on television, none was more vitally interested than the lone figure who saw it on a television set at Detroit's Harper Hospital.

He was the injured Gordie Howe of the Wings.

A's Edged Again Seek Infielder

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

PENTICTON—After suffering two successive defeats at the hands of the Vancouver Capilanos the Victoria Athletics today were looking for a second baseman and an outfielder, according to business manager Reg Patterson.

"The arrival of Snag Moore on Thursday may help to solve the outfield problem," Patterson said after Sunday's game here in which the Capilanos edged the A's 9 to 8, "but second baseman Al Smith appears too inexperienced for class B ball." Patterson also disclosed that he was awaiting word from Joe Devine of the New York Yankees in regard to additional player help.

The A's had Sunday's game against the Caps apparently in the bag when they entered the eighth inning with an 8 to 3 lead. But then with two men out the roof fell in and the Caps pushed over six runs.

ERROR COSTLY

Billy Dunn's error with the bases loaded and an odd play in which three runs scored after Ray Tran had been hit on the head while being run down between second and third accounted for all the runs.

Aldon Wilkie started for the A's and hurled one-hit ball for three innings. Jim Olsen worked the next four frames, giving up seven hits and three runs. Ron Smith took over in the eighth and was charged with the defeat. He allowed four hits and six runs in his two-inning stand but none of the runs were earned.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER

Peter Wong is the Chinese secretary of the Chinese Students' Athletic Association. And last week in his executive role, Peter dropped into the office with an invitation to attend the 20th anniversary dinner and reunion of the association at the Sirocco Club Thursday night.

Having been associated with the Chinese for many years, first as a boy in the small town (out of respect for my boyhood days, I'll call it a town, though it isn't really) of Blubber Bay on Texada Island, and later in sports against Chinese basketball teams in the city, I had no hesitancy in accepting the invitation on behalf of my wife and myself.

We Were Not Disappointed

And I can say without reserve and taking the liberty of acting as spokesmen for the other occidentals who were privileged to attend "we were not disappointed." An enjoyable time was had by all. The dinner was not in Chinese style as some might have expected, for the Chinese, though they had a great philosopher in Confucius, now "when in Rome do as the Romans do."

Of course from an athletic standpoint, and the occasion was to honor the original Chinese Students basketball team, was the presentation of individual trophies to members of the 1930-31 club who were present.

Sportsmanship Counts Most

Various sports officials who were called upon in their role of honored guests to speak at the function were rather tongue-tied as they attempted to extol the virtues of the Students in city sports. There was little that could be said that hadn't already been said in the fine record that Chinese teams have established, especially in sportsmanship during their 20-year history in sport in Victoria.

The friendliness of the Chinese has always intrigued me, and in those present, who prior to this event only knew the Chinese as members of our community, I believe a new respect for our oriental brethren has been born.

Boxla Turnouts Encouraging

You can quote Arnold Ferguson, coach of the Victoria Shamrocks in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League: "The inter-city team will be run by a clique this year, a clique of the 16 best lacrosse players in the city." Ferguson is more than pleased with the turnout for pre-season practice sessions and though not over-confident feels that with the material at hand the Shamrocks will be able to hold their own with mainland teams during the coming season.

The season is close at hand. Closer than most realize, as one month from today the Shamrocks are tentatively scheduled to play their first home game in the Memorial Arena.

ISLAND RUGBY SERIES

Wanderers, Bays In Cowichan Cup Final

J.B.A.A. first division rugger and Oak Bay Wanderers' second fifteen will meet in the final of the Cowichan Cup series. The game is tentatively scheduled for Saturday.

Victoria College Vikings, winners of the city championship, did not enter the post-season Vancouver Island championship series because of school examinations.

In Saturday's games at Macdonald Park the J.B.A.A. fifteen defeated Oak Bay Wanderers' first team, 16 to 9, while Oak Bay's second unit downed Fifth Regiment, 11 to 8.

J.B.A.A. took a 5 to 3 half-time lead on a try by Albie Williams and a conversion by Bill Mulholland. Pete Donald scored for Oak Bay. In the second-half Mulholland, Malcolm and Dempster scored for the winners with Ted Bolton and Irvine Young scoring for the losers.

After taking a 3 to 0 lead at the intermission, Wanderers' second team moved ahead 11 to 0 in the second-half before Fifth Regiment could score. The soldiers came back with a late burst but two tries and one conversion fell three points short of tying the count.

Hank Horne, Walt Young and John Johnson went over for Oak Bay while Pete Fowles and Eric Coles scored tries for the losers. Dick Pollard converted one try for Oak Bay and Jim Caldwell one for the Army.

J. R. Clark Heads Gorge Vale Club

D. Lawis, H. McDonald, M. Armstrong, Miss L. Harris and Mrs. A. Swan were named to the house committee, and A. Temple, J. Briggs, A. Buss and W. G. Johnson were nominated to the greens committee. The publicity committee is composed of G. Cole, A. Gillies and Mrs. J. Davis, and members of the membership committee include A. Meugana, H. McDonald, S. Holland and Miss N. O'Connell.

Dr. D. M. Ballie, a president of the club for several years, was named a life member in appreciation for his services. Main objective of the club members this year will be the purchasing of the club.

Amateur Hockey Clubs Down To Serious Business In Playoffs

You could pay your money and take your choice today as five senior and five junior teams lined up with their eyes on the Allan and Memorial Cups, emblematic of senior and junior hockey supremacy among Canadian amateurs.

Sherbrooke Saints will face Toronto Marlboros in the eastern Canada Allan Cup finals.

The Saints entered the finals Saturday by drubbing Sydney Millionaires, 5 to 0, to take their best-of-seven series in four straight games. Marlboros clinched their half of the eastern semifinal last week by defeating Cornwall Calumets in straight games.

In the western Allan Cup playoffs, Calgary Stampers today held a two-one lead in games in their best-of-seven tilt with Kamloops Elks. The Stampers won the third game Saturday night, 2 to 1. The series winner will play Fort Frances Canadians for the western senior title.

EASTERN JUNIOR FINAL

In the other loop, Montreal Junior Canadiens and Guelph Biltmores will tee off Tuesday night in Montreal in the first game of the eastern Memorial Cup finals.

Biltmores edged Porcupine Combines 3 to 1 Saturday to take their best-of-seven series four games to one. Meanwhile, the surprising Port Arthur Bruins shaped up as favorites to take Brandon Wheat Kings in their western junior semifinal.

Saturday night the Bruins upset Wheaties 4 to 3 to take a 3 to 2 lead in games in their best-of-seven series. The winner

MAJORETTES B.C. CHAMPS

TRAIL (CP)—Vancouver Majorettes went on a five-minute, 11-point spree at the night to beat Trail 34 to 33 and retain the British Columbia intermediate "A" girls' basketball championship.

The Vancouver quintette won the two-game, total-point series by a single point. Friday night the teams played to a 38 to 38 draw.

Banquet Brings D.V.A. Bowling Season To Close

The Department of Veterans' Affairs Fivepin Bowling League was host to over 100 bowlers, their families and friends at the annual banquet and prize-giving at the Monterey Restaurant.

During league play 16 teams competed in the regular schedule. Belmont won the first-half title and D.V.A. Hospital the second-half crown.

In the rolloff for the championship Belmont retained last year's honors. Members of the winning team included Joan Barber, Marg Hillis, Marie Carnie, John Neufeld and Bob Gauvreau.

In a representative team match between high-average bowlers from the D.V.A. Hospital and Belmont Building, the D.V.A. team won possession of the Burnett Cup.

High women's single for the season was registered by Hilda Thomson with 329. J. C. Dowds topped the male trundlers with 356. Miss D. Smart rolled the women's high three of 769 and G. Wamboldt the men's high triple of 820. Muriel Petherbridge topped the women's averages with 187 and J. Saunders the men with 202.

Prizes were presented by S. H. Okeil, D.V.A. administrator; J. H. Van Slyke, D.V.A. Social Club, and G. K. Sammon, president of the D.V.A. Employees' Association.

Team trophies will be presented April 14 at the D.V.A. Social Club banquet and dance at the Sirocco Club.

Hibberson Stages Great Rally To Down Morrison

Four up and six holes to play.

That's the way it stood for Bob Morrison against Eric Hibberson at the Colwood Golf Club Sunday in the quarterfinal round of the Vancouver Island match play open golf tournament sponsored by radio station CJVI.

But when it was over Hibberson was the winner, nipping the veteran Uplands star and clubmate, 1 up at the 19th, to advance to the semifinals against Vic Painter of Colwood.

Hibberson, who had a bad round until the final six holes, closed strongly.

Hibberson's won it with a par four to Morrison's bogey five. Painter defeated Ken Lea, 2 and 1.

In other quarter-final matches Gorge Vale's youthful Bob Fleming moved into the semis with a 5 and 4 triumph over Einar Brynjolfson, and Bill Bird of Gorge Vale edged Jim Ball, 1 up. Bird was at his best chipping in for a birdie three on the 12th and getting an eagle three on the 15th.

Fleming and Bird meet in the semifinal round at the Uplands next Sunday. The semis will be over the 36-hole route with players teeing off at 10 and 2.

Los Angeles In Coast Ice Final; Royals In Lead

Los Angeles, winner of the southern division playoff, will meet the survivor of the New Westminster-Vancouver series for the Pacific Coast Hockey League championship.

Monarchs beat San Diego four games to two, winning the final game, 4 to 1, last night.

New Westminster took a three to two game lead over Vancouver with a 4 to 1 victory Saturday night in their best-of-seven-game playoff.

The northern division playoff continues at Vancouver tomorrow night. If Vancouver wins, the deciding game will be played Wednesday at New Westminster.

Padres Appear Big Challenge

After two weeks of play, Hollywood's Stars are still leading in the Coast League baseball marathon today, but they're only half a step ahead of the weatherman and the San Diego Padres.

Off to a ragged start, San Diego is now buoying along on the crest of a five-game winning streak. With enough stick power to beat all the rugs in Persia, and maybe a few baseball teams thrown in, the Padres at this point rate as one of the loop's foremost pennant contenders.

They demonstrated this Sunday by grabbing both ends of a doubleheader at Los Angeles, 11 to 9 and 7 to 2. The sweep brought the Padres to within a half game of the lead and dropped the Angels into fifth place.

TIMES DAILY SERIAL

By HERMINA BLACK

DISTANT STAR

Clemency leaned back on the wooden seat of the waiting room of the Belgravia Employment agency and wondered why it was necessary for prospective employees to sit on anything quite so hard.

The room was bare and austere; decorated, thought that hardly seemed the word, by a large square mirror. It was probably put there on the wall as a hint to those being called upon to interview important clients of the firm to make sure that they presented a scrupulously neat appearance.

Clemency looked at her reflection in it, and the reflection looked back at her without any of the satisfaction which an ornamental young woman of 22 has the right to feel, with the knowledge that she is rather charming to look at. Up to now, this particular young woman had found good looks rather more of a liability than an asset. Quite a number of women seemed to prefer their children's rascally governess to be elderly and not so good looking.

MUST HAVE JOB She was conscious of mounting nervousness. If she didn't get a job soon she would have to go home, and that was the last thing she wanted to happen. The little flower-decked railway station at Belsham Lacy, the country town in the West Country of England where her father's legal practice was established, seemed like a prison gate.

At that moment the door of her inner sanctuary opened and the tall, fair girl who had gone in last came out, shutting the door behind her.

Clemency glanced at her, hoping to ask her the outcome of the interview to which the girl had been called 10 minutes ago. Their eyes met, as though in answer to her thought, the other paused beside her.

"No luck. She wanted me to go abroad, but I don't intend to tie myself up. When my fiancé comes back from Germany we'll be getting married."

POST IN AFRICA.

The office door opened again and Miss Simpson, the proprietress of the agency, looked out. "Miss Norton," she beckoned. "Clemency rose at once to obey the summons, with a smile at the fair girl.

Miss Simpson drew the door she was holding a little closer. "Just a minute," she said in a low voice. "It's no use wasting any more of my client's time unless you are willing to consider a post abroad—North Africa?"

North Africa! Farther than Clemency had ever hoped to go. Visions of things she had always yearned after shone brilliantly out. Her heart gave a little excited leap, but her voice, she had a particularly pretty speaking voice—was calm as she answered:

"I've no objection to going anywhere abroad."

"Good," Miss Simpson motioned her to follow. As she entered the inner office she said: "I don't think you need despair Mrs. Amberley. Here is the other young woman about whom I spoke. I think she would suit you."

"That sounds too good to be true." There was a touch of acidity in the slow, slightly drawing voice.

Clemency's first impressions of Syrie Amberley were that she looked as though she had stepped out of the pages of a fashion magazine and that she was one of the most breath-takingly lovely creatures she had ever seen. She had dark red hair and the flawless skin that goes with it. The whole effect was so dazzling that Clemency did not attempt to analyze them.

Miss Simpson said: "I'll leave you to talk," and disappeared through another door on the other side of the room.

LIKES TO TRAVEL.

Mrs. Amberley lit a cigarette as she appraised Clemency. Then: "Are you sure you are willing to go to North Africa?" she asked. "Make up your mind definitely before we go any further. It would be too crashingly boring to find out all about you and then have you say, like that idiot who just left, that you don't want to travel."

"On the contrary," Clemency replied quietly, "there is nothing I like better than to travel."

"Good," Clemency's prospective employer's smile seemed spontaneous and brilliant, although it did not change her eyes. They were strange eyes, almond shaped with an uncommon shade of hazel-green, with a line of gold around the edge of the iris.

She continued: "I've one little girl, nearly 4 years old. She's rather out of hand at present. I brought her back for a tonsil operation, and her governess with her. I thought the governess would go back with me—but she suddenly decided that she must stay here. A most abominably dirty trick—she knew we were due to leave next week, and she let me down at the last moment. I don't think any reference she gets from me will secure her another job!" Mrs. Amberley's mouth set, and Clemency noted that when she was not smiling there was a distinct suggestion of bad temper, almost of cruelty, about the line of those red lips.

NOT LOOKING UP Realizing for the first time that her prospective employee was standing, Syrie said carelessly: "Do sit down. I hate looking up at people when I'm talking to them," and as she obeyed: "I suppose you've looked after children before?"

"I trained in a nursery school for a time, and I'm capable of giving first lessons," Clemency told her.

"You haven't actually held down this kind of post before?" "No, but I'm very fond of children and good with them. The matron of the school will give me a reference. And I looked after a friend's children for several weeks last summer."

Syrie's laugh was brittle. "What about your family? Frankly, relations are an absolute curse."

"My family would not interfere with me," said Clemency quietly. "My father is a solicitor in Devonshire where his father and grandfather practiced before him. He is married again and I prefer not to live at home."

Syrie looked at her more closely. The girl was pretty—unusual, too, that golden hair with those enormous brown expressive eyes. Syrie had no objection to the good looks of any girl who was not likely to trespass on her domain—and Baba's governess would hardly be likely to do that. As for the men of the household—if only Jon would show some interest in a pretty face, it might help to solve a problem. And Piers—Syrie's eyes were suddenly secretive.

IN SHEIK'S HOUSE

Mrs. Amberley's soft, slow voice said: "We live on an oasis near a place called El Barata—about 30 miles from Biskra. But 30 miles in the desert is just nothing. The house belongs to my husband's brother, Piers Am-berley. It belonged originally to a sheik and was left to Piers by an eccentric relative. We went there because my husband has been—ill." An odd, furtive expression crossed the beautiful face and was gone in an instant. "We'll probably stay there. Piers can't bear his younger brother out of his sight." She puffed on her cigarette.

"There's a regiment of El Barata and boards of eminently attractive Frenchmen descend upon us whenever they get the chance. I suppose I ought to warn you that if you want a neighborhood movie you'll be bored stiff. To be perfectly frank, I shouldn't choose to live in the middle of the Sahara, if I could help myself."

"It sounds fascinating," murmured Clemency.

PREFERS BOYS

Mrs. Amberley drummed the tips of her exquisitely manicured nails on the table. "What I want," she said frankly, "is someone who isn't afraid of responsibility and who will be able to take Baba off my hands. Of course, I'm fond of children, although I'd rather have had a boy if I had to have one. Jon is sentimental over infants. He ought to have married a girl who would have crowded of the creatures and gone goosey over them. However—she shrugged—"I don't intend to do anything about that. I'm not shocking you?"

"If people don't like children, they just don't," said Clemency. "Exactly. You and Baba have one wing of the house practically to yourselves and your own courtyard. There's a car for your use when you want to go out and can arrange time off. We have an Arab nursery maid who's quite good. I'd like you to agree to stay for two years."

"You might want me to leave long before that!"

"Not as long as you carry out the duties I have outlined. The salary is 200 pounds a year."

"It sounds wonderful."

"One more thing. Are you engaged or anything like that?"

"Nothing."

UNLIKELY MOVE

"You won't suddenly want to get married then?"

"I should think it the most unlikely thing in the world."

"Then, you will be ready a week from today? And can you come and see me at the Savoy tomorrow at 4?"

"If you care to take up my references quickly, I could start tomorrow," said Clemency.

"Oh, bother the references. I'm sure you won't disappear with my jewelry." Syrie's laugh could be pretty, though it was a little harsh. "Come tomorrow. As a matter of fact, I want to go out of town for the week-end and if you were with Baba, it would be a relief. Ah, what's your name?"

"Norton, Clemency Norton."

"Pretty." The smile that accompanied the words was brilliant and genuine. "Don't let anyone spirit you away." Syrie rose and held out her hand.

As though she had been awaiting her cue, Miss Simpson appeared.

CALLED LUCKY

Having explained that things were settled, Mrs. Amberley glanced at the diamond wrist-watch she wore and explained that she "really must fly." With a nod to Clemency, Miss Simpson saw her out and was back in a moment.

"I think you are very lucky," she said.

"I think I am," agreed Clemency. Very lucky! she thought as a few minutes later she walked to the subway. She was going to see a part of the world of which she had often read, and thought she would like to see; because she was going to be independent—able at least to make a life of her own.

A life of her own! She had a singularly little idea of what that could mean.

After extensive research and experimentation with other colorings, Walt Disney decided that the heroine of his new all-cartoon magical musical, "Cinderella," now at the Odeon Theatre should be a lovely blonde, in color by Technicolor. Tests revealed that a blonde more convincingly depicts this symbol of lovelorn maidens than does a brunette or redhead.

Actor Sakall's Romance Has Lasted For 29 Years

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of Hollywood's nicest romances would never be made into a movie.

It is the story of Mr. and Mrs. S. Z. Sakall—he's known to movie fans as Cuddles. Their devotion to each other hasn't dimmed in 29 years of marriage.

The story is there for Hollywood to film, but that will never happen. The movie minds seem to believe love ends with marriage. Besides, they'd say, there's no glamor in a middle-aged couple.

Somehow the Sakalls still find their marriage glamorous. She accompanies her husband to the studio every working day.

"She never goes on the set, though," said the multi-chinned actor. "She stays in my dressing-room and waits for me."

"Oh, she has plenty to do. She takes care of all my correspondence. You can't imagine all the mail that has to be answered."

Mr. Sakall helps her husband with his lines, too.

The actor has been in Hollywood since 1939 and readily admits film acting is the most overpaid profession. Not that he minds — "Otherwise I couldn't have a house in Palm Springs."

Although he is usually cast in musicals—such as his current one, "Tea for Two," Sakall has only been allowed to sing once. This amazes him, because he was actually a singer in his native Hungary.

One of the other things that amazed him was the name "Cuddles." When his friends started to call him that, he couldn't understand it.

He looked the word up in the dictionary and found it meant "to hug," he said, vibrating his jowls. "Why would they call me that? I asked people and they said it was a compliment. But I couldn't call myself that. It would be immodest."

COLISEUM CROWD WAVED HANDKERCHIEFS TO SAVE GLADIATORS

Yesterday I spoke about the Circus Maximus, the largest gathering place of the ancient Romans. More than 200,000 persons were able to find seats there.

Little is left today of the Circus Maximus, but a great deal of the Coliseum still exists. Its remains make up one of the great showplaces of modern Rome.

The Coliseum had seats for about 50,000 persons. In a central space, surrounded by rows of seats, is the arena where men and animals used to fight and die. The arena is of oval shape, and has a length of 287 feet.

Much of the floor of the arena has been broken away, and a visitor can see rooms which formed a basement of a sort. Some of those rooms were dens for wild beasts, and others were used by gladiators.

At a given signal, a hungry lion or other animal was drawn up from below, and the cage was opened so it could get out and fight. Perhaps a man would be stationed there, ready to risk his life against the beast. He might be armed with a sword or spear, but there was danger that he would die in the struggle.

Leopards, bears and hyenas were among the other beasts which appeared in the arena of the Coliseum. Sometimes the beasts fought one another, but often their opponents were gladiators.

The gladiators were men who had been given special training. The majority of them were slaves or criminals.

Perhaps most popular of the contests were fights between gladiators who faced each other on foot. Armed with spears or swords, and carrying shields, they fought until one or the other was struck down. Members of the crowd would wave handkerchiefs when they felt that the life of a wounded gladiator should be spared.

PARIS (AP) — A 21-year-old former student of religion momentarily disrupted Easter services in Paris' famed Notre Dame Cathedral Sunday by climbing into the pulpit to blame Christianity for the world's ills.

Police said the plot was hatched in a basement night club of the Saint Germain-Des-Prez area, the Greenwich Village of Paris.

Michel Mourre was quickly ousted from the pulpit and hustled out of the vast cathedral.

Police said Mourre would be charged with impersonating a member of a religious order, an offense punishable by six months to two years in prison.

Mourre was wearing a robe of the Dominican Order. He had been a student of the order until six months ago.

Two Killed When Plane Falls, Burns At Penticton

PENTICTON (CP)—David W. Smith, 39, and Lorne L. Johnston, 41, were killed here Sunday when their Tiger Moth aircraft pancaked to the ground and burned. The two men had been trying out their recently-overhauled Tiger Moth with aerobatics when Pilot Smith apparently lost control. He fell into a spin, recovered momentarily, then crashed on the Penticton Indian Reservation about 1.30 p.m., E.S.T. Mrs. Louise Paul, an Indian woman who witnessed the crash, said Jacob Kruger ran to the flaming wreck in an attempt to haul out one of the men who was pinned to his seat by a safety belt. Driven back by the flames, Kruger returned with a blanket for protection, but could not reach the man. The men had been chums since boyhood. Johnston, an R.C.A.F. veteran, leaves his wife, Lexie May, and a daughter, Wanda, 11. Smith leaves his wife, Julia, and a son, Henry, 11. An inspector of civil aviation is carrying out an investigation.

Radar Defences Being Built Up To Meet Any Blow At Continent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radar and civilian airplane spotting networks are far enough along to give the United States at least some insurance against another blow such as the attack on Pearl Harbor, military officials reported today. The defence department already is operating radar outposts around the clock and more will be set up. And by the end of the summer it hopes to have 160,000 civilians recruited and trained to maintain a lookout if war appears near.

Youth For Christ Rally This Evening

A special rally of the Youth For Christ group will be held at the Salvation Army Citadel tonight, commencing at 7.45. Don Road, director of the Seattle affiliation, will be the speaker at the rally. America's most unique quartette, the "Four Flats," will bring the gospel in song. Capt. C. F. Stabbert and the crew of the gospel mission boat, "Willie Shank" will also be in attendance.

Alarm systems also have been installed which can flash a warning to air force interceptor squadrons and civilian warning centres within seconds.

All these moves are simply preparedness, the officials stressed, and do not indicate any belief that actual need of these defences is imminent. Canada's defence department also is working on civilian defence plans for use in the event of any sudden attack. It was learned in Ottawa in February that the department is expected

BUNNY HAT IN PARADE

TORONTO (CP)—And now comes the bunny bonnet.

The hat that drew crowds at the Easter parade at west-end Sunnyside Beach was Betty Wheeler's. Atop her blonde curls perched a celluloid affair containing a small and placid white rabbit. The 12-pound topper was tied on with green net.

The live bunny drew almost as many stares as six boys who ran around in rags carrying a canoe.

Arrest Ends Spree On Stolen Bonds

TORONTO (CP)—George Schofield, 19, was brought back from Las Vegas, Nevada, by airplane Sunday night, after police said he went on a $1,000 spending spree with bonds stolen from his father's safety deposit box.

Police said Schofield has been charged with theft of a total of $5,100 in bonds. Police quoted him as saying he gambled away the money after he bought a one-way ticket to Las Vegas last Tuesday. He was broke when he was arrested in Las Vegas, police said.

By ART STOTT

IN HIS HOCKEY and basketball days the fires of battle blazed hot around Dave Nicol. As a manager he didn't walk away from a fight. And his Blue Ribbons and Dominoes gave Victoria her most consistent Canadian champions.

That's all in the past now. Dave left sport when he wound up the Dominoes' affairs by donating the club's $2,500 re, serve to the Victoria High School stadium. It was a nice gesture. Most of the players who had carried his teams to championships had come from Victoria High.

He still goes to games. "I pay my money and I just watch. I don't want to fight any more," he says.

NICOL HAS RETURNED to his old hobby—chrysanthemums and begonias.

"Funny," he remarks, "a lot of blacksmiths are gardeners. I got it from my father, and when I have entries in flower shows, it's surprising how many blacksmiths turn up among the exhibitors and come over to talk about the trade."

Dave switched to spring and car body work in 1917. He doesn't see much hope for survival of the old smithy.

"In the next 10 or 15 years, there'll be very little left for the blacksmith," he says. "Even now, one man could do all the shoeing needed on the lower island and he wouldn't be busy. There's not much more than saddle horses and a few pulling milk wagons left."

IT'S A FAR CRY from the time 16-year-old Dave left his father's shop in Montrose, Scotland, and came to the United States to play soccer. It was hard to live on soccer, so young Nicol went back to his trade.

"Shoed horses all over the States," he explains. "Got my share of kicks, too. Once a horse knocked one of my front teeth right down my throat."

"Those were the days of harness racing. You had to know the weight and balance of a shoe for the horse that needed it. They varied according to the horse's gait, one weight for trotters, another for pacers."

He moved from Providence, R.I., to Ottawa with the harness horses, struck out west and came to Victoria in 1911 when the city had long race meets. He's not sure whether they lasted 60 or 90 days.

AFTER A STRETCH with Wood and Todd on Johnson Street, Dave and a partner bought out Jim Hay, father of Cecil Hay, crack sprinter of the first postwar period. Their shop was on the corner of Broad and Pandora.

"That's the place young Henry Kaiser used to hang out when he was despatcher for the Mineral Rubber Co. that did the city's paving," Nicol said. "Used to drop in every morning. We called 'em runners in those days, not despatchers."

Dave likes the poem about the village blacksmith under the spreading chestnut tree.

"But it was just a poem. Blacksmith's used to get pretty thirsty, too, working over the forge."

He weeps no tears for the passing of the trade.

"It was too hard work. Look at my hands," and he spreads out fingers that won't quite straighten.

"The old blacksmiths have gone in for welding. It wasn't hard for them to learn."

"Once almost all metal work was done at the forge. Now car parts are stamped out in aluminum or pressed steel. People won't wait for a blacksmith to get a job done. They're in too much of a hurry."

"Kids don't go for blacksmithing. They aren't the same mechanics. You had to learn the business in the old days. But they catch on faster. Tech schools have helped a lot. And the youngsters are more mature when they look for jobs."

NOT THAT OLD smiths didn't include a good number with brains.

"Some of the smartest men in the world were blacksmiths," Nicol claims. "Luther Burbank was a wheelwright, which is just about the same as a smith, before the doctors told him to go west when he showed signs of T.B."

Dave doesn't know what plastics will do to what's left of the blacksmith's trade. But he does know what his next shift will be.

"Next move for me is to the beach. I'm going to sit down in the sun—if there is any sun. But why talk about blacksmiths? I can tell you more about growing flowers than about this business."

VACCINATION NECESSARY FOR
TRAVEL ABROADPassengers May Have To Show
Proof In Europe

Dr. G. F. Amyot, B.C.'s Deputy Minister of Health, today warned all persons planning a visit to Europe this summer to include a vaccination check as part of their travel preparations.

As a result of the recent outbreak of smallpox in Scotland, travelers to many European ports will likely be asked to show proof of recent vaccination both on arrival in Europe and on their return to North America, Dr. Amyot said.

British Columbia residents, he explained, may obtain vaccination from their own doctor or local health department or health unit.

"Smallpox is an extremely contagious disease," Dr. Amyot said, "but a recent successful vaccination provides immunity. Since smallpox, like other communicable diseases, can spread rapidly, it is wise for all persons to maintain their immunity against smallpox by vaccination at least every five years."

203 Northwest Golfers Tee Off
On Victoria, Oak Bay Courses

Heavy greens under a cloudy, threatening sky today made their effect felt on golfers in the qualifying round of the 20th annual Empress Tournament at Royal Colwood Golf Club.

Gross scores of early finishers, most of whom were 12-handicappers, were all in the 80's and 90's.

Signs of lower scores on the par 70 course were seen from outgoing results of other entrants, however.

Defending handicap champion Ken Lindley of Seattle had a 38 on the first nine, as did T. Doolley of Portland. Defending open champion Vic Painter, Victoria, had 41 going out, and Paul Florito, Seattle, had a one-over 36 for the first nine.

Last year's co-medalist, Ed Rapp, Vancouver, Wash., finished with an 81-10-71.

LARGE ENTRY LIST

One hundred and thirty-nine men teed off at Colwood today, and 64 women did likewise at the Victoria Golf Club at Oak Bay, for a total entry list of 203.

Of these, 159 were from out of town, and 44 from Victoria.

Scores of early finishers follow:

No Potato Famine; Dry-Belts Short

Despite the fact that current stocks of dry-belt potatoes, constituting 70 per cent of the city's consumption, will only last another two weeks, a local wholesaler agent said today Victorians need not fear a potato famine.

Fields in the interior have been depleted of dry-belt potatoes, but local supplies will not be affected as a shipment of new white potatoes is expected this week and new California potatoes will arrive early next week.

Sales of seed potatoes have been moving slowly during the past few weeks due to inclement weather.

Widow Left
Legacy Had
Own Fortune

Eighty-two-year-old Mrs. Helen Lovekin, former resident of Victoria, who received Saturday a legacy of $225,000 in trust from the estate of her brother, Nathaniel Stevens, American industrialist, also inherited, two years ago an interest in the $6,000,000 estate of another brother.

Her first inheritance came from Moses Tyler Stevens, a textile magnate, who died in Massachusetts, U.S.A., while Mrs. Lovekin was residing at Mount St. Mary's with her husband. Mr. Lovekin has died since then, and Mrs. Lovekin is now living in Weston, Conn.

Though Mrs. Lovekin may be holding the money in trust for her children, there is no doubt that she will never be in need of money.

Her husband made a fortune as a banker, miner and planter. He died here in June last year.

Line department employees of Hume and Rumble Ltd., Victoria and Vancouver electrical contracting firm, have voted to reject a conciliation board majority report, providing them with a 14-cent-an-hour increase.

The linesmen asked their wages be brought to the level paid B.C. Electric linesmen.

They are willing to negotiate, they say, on the basis of a minority report which recommended they be paid 24 cents an hour more.

In the meantime, it is reported the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has applied to the Labor Relations Board to conduct a government-supervised strike vote among employees of the firm.

500 Men Laid Off
As Building Stops

Laborers, Carpenters Hardest Hit By Action Of Contractors

Little work was being done today at any major construction job in the Greater Victoria area because of the strike at Evans, Coleman and Johnson building supply company.

A shutdown called by the Victoria Building Industries' Exchange as a result of the strike has put at least 500 tradesmen out of work. The number may increase.

The exchange says it is useless for contractors to attempt to continue work when picket lines are thrown around their projects, no matter where they obtain supplies.

At the Post Office building site on Government Street, only a handful of rock men were working today. All employees of Northern Construction Co. and J. W. Stewart Ltd., contractors for the job, were laid off. They number about 60.

The firms earlier laid off a similar number of men when they stopped work on the B.C. Power Commission building, McClure Street.

PLUMBERS ON JOB

At the new provincial government administration block, Government and Elliot, only plumbers were working today. One hundred and twenty workmen employed by Dawson & Hall Ltd., general contractor for the job, have been told not to report to work until called.

Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd. has laid off over 100 of its employees, most of them laborers and carpenters.

HOMES HIT

In addition, work has stopped on many apartment buildings and private homes.

Laborers and carpenters are hardest hit by the shutdown. It is particularly hard on these workmen as they lost much pay at the beginning of the year because of bad weather layoffs.

From Sugar And Flour Sacks
Come Dainty Towels, Aprons

By PENNY SAVER

It just goes to show you, little housewife, that if you shout loud enough and long enough someone is bound to sit up and take notice. Probably not the most tactful, but nevertheless the most effective, way to be heard. At least, it was in the case of the thousands of women across Canada, who wrote letter after letter asking a well-known millinery company to put their flour in sacks made of material suitable for tea towels, among a dozen other things.

Seems to me I've heard many a mother say she could always make good use of flour and sugar sacks for housedresses, children's clothes, tea towels, table cloths, slip covers and many other useful household articles.

In former days women would have to give the cloth a great deal of bleaching and soaking

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

DECLARER CAN OFTEN HEAD DEFENSE PLAN

"The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley," said Robert Burns. A good defensive player must lay out a plan of attack, but sometimes his line of attack is so well laid out that it can be read by the declarer.

Then all the defence can get is "E" for effort.

Against the four-heart contract on today's hand East opened the top of his partner's suit, the ten of diamonds. Declarer played low from dummy and West let the ten hold the trick.

East knew that his partner held the ace, king and queen of diamonds. He could see the ace, king and queen of spades, the ace-queen of hearts and ace-queen of clubs. Therefore all North could have to justify his free-heart bid was the king of hearts and king of clubs.

East decided to cash his ace of spades to make sure of it, then he led the seven of diamonds, which West won with the queen. Now West started to analyze the hand. He thought, "My partner says we haven't a tract is to establish the jack of hearts."

So West boldly played the king of diamonds. Realizing what his partner was attempting to do, East trumped with the nine of hearts, forcing North to over-trump in dummy with the queen. The ace of hearts was cashed and the five-spot led. West put on the seven. Should North go up with the king or play the ten?

If North guessed wrong and went up with the king of hearts, hoping to drop the jack, he would lose the contract. But West's fine strategy should give him a tip as to what was going on. West had deliberately led the king of diamonds and East had trumped with the nine of hearts, obviously hoping to establish a trump trick for his partner.

So the smart declarer would defeat the well-laid plans of the defence by finessing the ten-spot and making the contract. Just the same, I think we must give West that "E" for effort for a fine defensive play.

Young Crime Film Fans Convert Cap Guns Into Lethal Weapons

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—

Police here have discovered three cap pistols made over by youngsters into lethal weapons. It was learned. Police Chief A. R. Bull has issued an appeal to parents to check all toy fire-arms belonging to their children.

The cap pistols are fitted with a crude barrel and firing pin and take a .22 calibre bullet. Two were taken from boys 14 and 15 years old. The third was found by a youngster's parents who destroyed it before reporting the incident to police.

Police said the idea for the guns originated with a movie called "City Across the River." The film, shown here recently, described steps in converting a cap pistol into a lethal weapon.

"This is the most serious threat of juvenile pranks we have had to handle in some years," Chief Bull said. Fortunately there have been no serious consequences, but if one of these makeshift .22 pistols is fired there will be tragedy for someone.

Parents should take note if junior is fiddling or sawing away at a toy pistol or gun. Such efforts should be discouraged, and the guns appropriated. They can be very dangerous both for the person handling the reconverted gun and the one who may be on the receiving end."

GAINS MONEY BY GALLONS

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Grocer Joseph Koslosky has a hobby of collecting coins. Since 1940 he's always kept a 10-gallon bucket handy. Each time he got a coin he liked he pitched it in the bucket.

He finally filled it, a gallon a year. Then he bought a new car. He traded his old one in and paid the balance with the bucketful of those coins he liked—14,050 dimes.

Canada's Expansion Had Equal Periods In Past

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

We are so occupied with the great Canadian expansion of the last few years that perhaps we are inclined to forget past periods of growth which built the foundation and made possible the more recent advances.

However, the current monthly letter of the Bank of Nova Scotia reviews the Canadian economic scene since 1900, and gives first place to the early years of the century. Says the letter:

Despite the scale of later growth, the peopling of the West—the building of the wheat economy—was the outstanding development of the half century. In the 14 years 1900 to 1914, nearly 3,000,000 immigrants came to Canada and more than 400,000 homestead entries were made. The total population of Canada rose at the phenomenal rate of almost 50 per cent in these years, and that of the prairies more than tripled.

RAILWAY ERA
The effects of the settlement of the prairies can be seen in almost every economic activity. Railway building was fundamental to the expansion. A sizeable steel industry was built.

Asparagus Back At Lowest Price; Grapefruit Rising

Back on the import list after an absence of two years, asparagus is currently selling at rock-bottom prices, a wholesale agent here said today.

Price at the lowest it has been all year.

The last carload of Florida pink and white grapefruit of the season arrived today. Wholesale prices are expected to be high for the next three or four months until the new crop is shipped through.

Prices on oranges dropped slightly this week.

First shipments of British Columbia hothouse tomatoes have arrived. Wholesale price is $12 a case.

Lower prices are being marked on green peas, local cucumbers and onions, however, wholesalers said.

Huge Warehouse Planned By G.M.

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP)—A $3,000,000 central parts distribution warehouse will be built by General Motors of Canada on a 400-acre site on the southwestern outskirts of Oshawa, for occupancy late this year.

W. A. Wecker, president, said the centre would facilitate the handling of service parts to the present eight regional depots across Canada and a ninth to be built at Montreal.

ALBERTA OIL REPORT

Pacific-Calvan Assured Of Two More Producers

By C. V. MYERS

CALGARY—Pacific and Calvan Petroleum and Associates have assured their group two more D-3 producers in the most southerly drilling yet to take place in the Redwater field.

Drilling two miles west and half a mile south of Imperial Simmons, the group has topped D-3 in both wells and at a depth reported to be higher than Pacific Calvan Simmons No. 1, the most northerly well in the section and the nearest to previous production.

The southwest and northwest quarters of section 22 were bought at the Feb. 16 Crown Lease sale for a total of $934,000. Most observers, including many experts, believed the quarters would prove unproductive.

Pacific and associates now have 34 Redwater wells, and 15 more sites, of which 12 may be considered proven and the other three highly probable.

There was no truth to the rumor that Imperial Oil will split itself in two and issue present shareholders one share in the producing company and one in the refining company, John W. White, Imperial vice-president, said in a long distance telephone interview from Toronto.

The rumor said that Imperial would split itself into a producing company and a refining company. Each present shareholder would get one share of stock in each of the companies.

"There is not a grain of truth in the story," said Mrs. White. "So far as I know nothing of this nature is even being considered."

Mr. White could offer no explanation for the sharp and sudden rise of Imperial stock on the market.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Teen-Agers Should Not Let Acne Hold Them Back

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Few things cause so much worry and distress to growing youngsters as adolescent pimples or acne. This skin disease comes at a time when boys and girls are terribly sensitive about their personal appearance. Friends, particularly those of the opposite sex, are becoming more and more important and the presence of pimples adds to the difficulty of growing from childhood into adult life.

Only a small proportion of those afflicted with acne develop permanent scarring but the fear is always present. Not only is there the usually unnecessary fear of permanent scarring of the face, but the pimples themselves produce an excessive shyness and self-consciousness. Some develop a permanent inferiority complex as a result of acne.

Acne prefers the face, neck, upper part of the chest and shoulders. The pimple usually starts as a reddish lump which is slightly tender to touch. It often develops into a "white head," which actually consists of a mixture of pus, germs, skin oil, and destroyed tissue cells. The pimple may be near the surface of the skin or quite deep.

In the milder cases, the pimples are spaced rather widely apart and are near the surface. In more severe cases they are closer together, break out more frequently and burrow deeper into the skin. When a white-head forms the top of the pustule finally breaks open, the pus escapes, a crust forms and healing takes place. If the pustule has been large and deep a permanent scar may be left, though this is fortunately the exception.

Infection alone almost certainly does not explain the development of acne. Because acne is most common and usually most severe during the period of adolescence in both boys and girls, it probably has some relation to the changes in the glands and hormones which take place at that time. Diet almost certainly plays a part. Many, if not most, adolescents have a craving for sweets and sweets almost always make acne worse.

A special effort should be made to overcome the self-consciousness caused by pimples. Every boy and girl should force himself or herself to take part in social functions and ignore any remarks which might be made.

On the other side family and friends should be careful not to make remarks about the appearance of the acne. Commenting every day or whether the pimples are better or worse, even if done with the best of intentions, can only exaggerate the self-consciousness.

In addition to seeking proper advice and following it, the condition should be ignored so far as going to, or staying away from, social events is concerned.

C.C.F. Elects

Grant MacNeil New President

PENTICTON (CP)—Grant MacNeil of Vancouver was elected provincial president of the C.C.F. at the annual convention here during the week-end.

Mr. MacNeil won over Collin Cameron of Vancouver, 75 to 32. Elected vice-president was Laura Jamieson, Vancouver; second vice-president, Rod Young, Vancouver.

The convention pledged itself to a policy of "absolute non-interference in any jurisdictional disputes between trade unions" in the province.

Delegates expressed the wish that the party go on record as being in support of such a policy rather than to refer the question of C.C.F. trade union relationships to the incoming executive for examination.

Convention voted against the recommendation of the committee on armaments to throw out two resolutions calling for cessation of expenditures on armaments and for disbanding of the armed forces.

J. M. Thomas, Victoria; David Stupich, Nanaimo, were among those elected to the provincial executive.

Teen-Age Crime Wave Keeps Policemen Busy

Thieving, Fighting Among Disturbances

By ROY THORSEN

A fight with a policeman, shopbreaking and robberies, trouble at a dance, cutting up goldfish and throwing rotten eggs at a Sunday church service audience, were among offences blamed on 'teen-agers in Victoria during the week-end.

Juvenile offenders have become a major headache for local police. Practically all of the crime on the 1950 records has been traced to boys ranging in age from 13 and under up to 20.

Eight or nine boys went into York Theatre Sunday night around 8:50 and threw rotten eggs at the church audience and stage, Evangelist D. D. Clarke told officers. No one got a description of the culprits and a police search of the district failed to find them.

Juveniles are believed responsible for the entry of Kay's Coffee Shop at 568 Yates Street, operated by Francis Hall. There they took $20 worth of cigarettes. They also took two goldfish out of a bowl and cut them to pieces on the counter, police reported. They got in through a broken window.

BROKE INTO ARENA

Between four and five youths will likely face juvenile court for breaking into the Memorial Arena through a back window to steal cases of pop. One of the boys was caught by the night watchman. Two cases of pop which had been taken outside were recovered.

At 1 Sunday morning the Topper Cafe, Yates Street, was the scene of a fight between a 'teen-ager and policeman.

FOUGHT POLICEMAN

Constables Norman Bath and Leslie Mottershead attended in response to a telephone report a fight was raging there. They found Constable Nap Bouchard in the throes of battle with a young man, who had a lot of verbal supporters in the gallery. The battling youth was arrested on a charge of obstructing an officer. Steve Johnson, proprietor, reported damage amounting to $85 as a direct result of the scuffle. Constable Bath sustained injuries to a finger.

Officers went to the Y.M.C.A. and brought to the police station three boys, aged 18 and 19, who were causing trouble, two of them were charged with being intoxicated in a public place. The other was warned and sent on his way. There have been several cases of 'teen-age trouble-makers at the "Y" dances in the last few weeks, police were told by Bob Morrison, program secretary.

Policemen talked to four boys, one aged 15 and the other three aged 18, when a citizen reported they were trying to break into a car on Belleville Street Sunday morning.

Jack Keesney reported to police that $3 in change was stolen from his 567 Johnson Street store. Entry was gained through a window.

Weather Forecast

Intermittent rain tonight and Tuesday morning, becoming cloudy with widely scattered showers Tuesday afternoon. Light winds, increasing to southeast 20 m.p.h. tonight and shifting to southeast 30 m.p.h. Tuesday forenoon. Low tonight, 44; high tomorrow, 50.

Contractors Criticized By Union Council

The Victoria Building Trades Council (T.L.C.A.F.L.) went on record this afternoon as deploring action of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange in bringing about the present construction slowdown.

The trades council, voice of union tradesmen in the construction industry, said in a prepared statement following a three-hour meeting there was no real justification for the exchange-ordered slowdown.

The exchange maintains the shutdown is necessary because of the strike at Evans, Coleman & Johnson Bros. building supply firm.

"The Building Industries Exchange has shut down all major construction while, up to date, only three jobs have been picketed by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (strikers' union).

A mass meeting of construction workers who have been affected by the shutdown has been called for Tuesday night at 8 at the C.C.L. Hall, 751 Johnson Street.

Nationalists Charge Soviet Aid In China

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP)—Nationalist China charged today that Russia has sent "a large number of military aircraft and personnel" to Mao Tse-tung's Communist army and Soviet technicians have "set up and maintain the entire signal corps of the air force of the Chinese Communists."

The charge was contained in a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie from Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang, chief of the Nationalist delegation to the United Nations.

MANCHESTER WINS BACK SOCCER LEAD

Sunderland Has First Loss In 2-0 Shutout

LONDON (Reuter)—Manchester United, drawing its second Easter holiday game—this time a scoreless tussle with Birmingham City—today regained leadership of the English League's championship division.

By displacing Sunderland, which briefly held the top spot, the United has kept up the exciting pitch with which the game of musical chairs featuring the battle for the football championship is being fought.

Sunderland suffered its first home defeat of the season, a 2-0 shutout from Middlesbrough. With two games in hand Sunderland is tied in points with Manchester, though behind in goals average, and thus holds second spot.

Third position in the league is held by Portsmouth, which managed a 1-0 victory over Fulham. Liverpool slipped back from third to fourth today after a 1-0 defeat by Burnley. The Portersiders are tied with Portsmouth, however, in points.

In second division, interest centred on the battle between the two Sheffield teams—Wednesday and the United—for promotion. Tottenham Hotspur having already clinched one of the two places at stake.

Wednesday today achieved second place in the division and, with two games in hand, leads the United by one point. Today's victory was 1-0 over Bury, while the United lost by the league score to Southampton. The league leaders, Tottenham Hotspur, suffered similarly at the hands of Hull City.

Maggie's Gangplank Tips Under Visitors

NEW YORK (UP)—One man was treated for shock today when a gangplank leading to the Canadian aircraft carrier H.M.C.S. Magnificent tipped under the weight of sightseers.

About 50 persons were swarming up the gangplank to the afterdeck when the weight caused it to tip.

The visitors screamed and ran for the ends of the gangplank. None was spilled into the water.

McCarthy Lines Up Man Who Knew Lattimore

U.S. Senator Now Offers Evidence Opponent Was One-Time Communist

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senator Joseph R. McCarthy said today he is ready to give Senate investigators the name of the witness he has said would identify Owen Lattimore as a one-time Communist Party member.

The Wisconsin Republican told reporters the witness will testify under subpoena. He identified him only as "the first witness I mentioned in my speech" on the Senate floor on March 30.

The first witness mentioned in that speech was a man who McCarthy said would identify himself as a former inner-circle Communist. McCarthy said the man would identify the Johns Hopkins University professor as a Communist who was under the party's discipline.

He has refused consistently to identify his alleged ex-Communist

Union Of Labor Groups Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP)—A.F.L. president, William Green, today strongly endorsed the idea of merging all labor unions in the U.S. into a single federation, but avoided taking a stand on a C.I.O. plan for all unions to cooperate politically pending the merger.

Green wrote president Philip Murray that the A.F.L. favors formation of "one strong, well established labor organization" in the U.S.

But he said he was referring Murray's idea of a political-economic co-ordinating committee to the A.F.L.'s executive committee for a decision when the council meets at Philadelphia May 8.

Murray proposed last week that the C.I.O., A.F.L. railroad unions and other major labor groups join in such a committee and also work for organized unity.

The A.F.L.'s traditional position has been that labor organizations should merge first, and that economic-political co-operation would follow automatically.

STORY ANNOYS EGYPTIANS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Egyptian Ambassador has complained to the State Department about what he considers to be an objectionable article on King Farouk in Life Magazine.

The article dealt with the activities of the king since assuming the throne at the age of 16. It appears in the current issue.

Be Like Hopis Britain Advised

LONDON (Reuter)—The Daily Express in an editorial today called on Britain to follow the example of the Hopi Indians in Arizona, who "take their place in history as the only people in the western world who rejected dollar aid."

The newspaper said Washington offered $89,600,000 "for the rehabilitation of the Hopis and their neighbors, the Navajos." "The Hopi chief replied his people would still rely on their own efforts. The offer was refused.

"What a fine thing it would be for Britain if her leaders could muster the resolution, common sense and dignity of the Hopi Indians."

RACKETEERS IN U.S. DEFIED

Windsor Mayor Denies Claims Vice Payments Made To Police

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—Mayor Arthur Reaume today challenged a Detroit newspaper to prove allegations of vice payoffs to city police.

Mayor Reaume asked the Detroit Free Press to reveal the source of a story claiming Detroit agents of an international gambling syndicate were ready to "organize" Windsor into a city of vice.

A member of a three-man police commission investigating charges of vice here, Reaume said his commission would be glad to hear directly from the newspaper's informant. The commission is scheduled to resume its inquiry Thursday, after an adjournment March 18. The newspaper claimed a reporter had interviewed a syndicate member, identified only as "Mike," who said the ring would take over Windsor immediately a provincial police deputization returned to Toronto.

"Those to be organized would include bookies and other vice operations for underworld protection. A member of the gang would be placed inside each bookie to act as a doorman. All would be armed," the newspaper quoted "Mike."

The Free Press also quoted its source as saying gamblers made weekly payoffs to Windsor police to remain in business.

"It's a lot of newspaper talk," Deputy Police Chief W. H. Neale commented caustically.
